Item 8.01 Other Events.

On March 14, 2016, Orgenesis Ltd. (Orgenesis Ltd.), the Israel based subsidiary of Orgenesis Inc. (the Company), entered into a collaboration agreement with CureCell Co., Ltd. (CureCell), initially for the purpose of applying for a grant from the Korea Israel Industrial R&D Foundation ("Koril-RDF") for pre-clinical and clinical activities related to the commercialization of Orgenesis Ltd. s AIP cell therapy product in Korea ("Grant"). Subject to receiving the Grant, the Parties shall carry out at their own expense their respective commitments under the work plan approved by Koril-RDF and any additional work plan to be agreed between Orgenesis Ltd. and CureCell. Orgenesis Ltd. will own sole rights to any intellectual property developed from the collaboration which is derived under, resulting from, based on and incorporating and/or otherwise related to Orgenesis Ltd. s AIP cell therapy product, information licensed from Tel Hashomer Hospital in Israel (THM), and/or Orgenesis Ltd.'s confidential information. Subject to obtaining the requisite approval needed to commence commercialization in Korea, Orgenesis Ltd. has agreed to grant to CureCell, or a fully owned subsidiary thereof, under a separate sub-license agreement (the Sub-License Agreement), an exclusive sub-license to the intellectual property underlying the Company s API product solely for commercialization of the Company s products in Korea. CureCell has agreed to pay annual license fees, ongoing royalties based on net sales generated by CureCell and its sublicensees, milestone payments and sublicense fees. It is anticipated that the Sub-License Agreement will also contain, among other things, minimum sales requirements as well as other provisions common in licensing agreements for international biotech licensing agreements. Under the agreement, CureCell is entitled to share in the net profits derived by Orgenesis Ltd. from world- wide sales (except for sales in Korea) of any product developed as a result of the collaboration with CureCell. Additionally, CureCell was given the first right to obtain exclusive commercialization rights in Japan of the AIP product, subject to CureCell procuring all of the regulatory approvals required for commercialization in Japan.

Beginning on the date on which the necessary approvals for commercialization of the AIP product in Korea are obtained, Orgenesis Ltd. can cause CureCell to transfer its rights in its affiliate which is a party to the Sub-License Agreement (the Sub-License Entity) to the Company for consideration consisting of the Company s common stock at a specified valuation of the Sub-License Entity. CureCell can also require the Company to purchase, during the six (6) months following the procurement of all such approvals, CureCell s shareholdings in the Sub-License Entity at the same valuation.

This Current Report on Form 8-K contains forward-looking statements relating to the parties collaboration plans. Undue reliance should not be placed on these forward-looking statements because they involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors that are, in some cases, beyond the Company s control and that could materially affect actual results. The Company expressly disclaims any intent or obligation to update these forward-looking statements, except as required by law.
