Further Clarification on Moatize Coal Project

Rio de Janeiro, June 13, 2003 – Companhia Vale do Rio Doce (CVRD) clarifies that, as informed on Wednesday, June 11, 2003, the development of Moatize coal mine in Mozambique is subject to several factors, including the conclusion of a pre-feasibility study. As a result, there are no additional information regarding the size of the mine and the capex required for the development of the project and its start-up.

CVRD annually allocates a considerable amount to mineral exploration. In 2002, CVRD and BNDES jointly invested US$ 44.1 million in this activity. For 2003, US$ 72 million are budgeted for the search for deposits of copper, gold, manganese, nickel, platinum group metals (PGM), among others. Of this amount, 63% will be invested in the Carajás province, in the north of Brazil, and 19% in other states of the country, such as Piauí and Ceará, where studies are being carried out to identify deposits of nickel and copper, respectively. The remaining 18% will be invested in other countries like Peru and Chile, where CVRD already carry studies for the identification of copper deposits. All the projects under analysis and yet not officially announced are non-binding. If any further relevant opportunity arises, CVRD will give it a full disclose, as it has been routinely done.

These initiatives are in line with CVRD's strategy to seek growth opportunities that generate value to its shareholders, consolidating its position as one of the largest diversified mining companies of the world.
