FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Oncolytics Biotech Inc. Research Collaborators to Present

Combination Reovirus and Cisplatin Treatment Results at Oncolytic Virus Conference

CALGARY, AB, March 16, 2007 - Oncolytics Biotech Inc. (Oncoytics) (TSX:ONC, NASDAQ:ONCY) announces that Professor Hardev Pandha of The Royal Surrey Hospital, U.K. is scheduled to present a poster today entitled

Synergistic Antitumour Activity of Oncolytic Reovirus and Cisplatin in Malignant Melanoma at the 4th International Conference on Oncolytic Viruses as Cancer Therapeutics in Carefree, Arizona, March 14 through 17, 2007. The results of the preclinical study showed that the combination of reovirus and cisplatin was significantly more effective than cisplatin or reovirus alone at killing melanoma cancer cells in a mouse model.

The investigators concluded that the addition of chemotherapeutic agents can enhance the efficacy of reovirus therapy. They intend to explore the mechanism of this promising synergistic action in further detail in future preclinical work.

We find this rapidly expanding body of evidence supporting combination treatment with reovirus to be very gratifying, said Dr. Matt Coffey, Chief Scientific Officer of Oncolytics. This recent evidence that reovirus can be combined with commonly used therapies such as platinum agents further supports our approved human clinical trial program using REOLYSIN[®] in combination with platinum and taxane agents.

The research will be posted on the Oncolytics website at www.oncolyticsbiotech.com as soon as it is available.
