On May 26, 2016, CytRx Corporation ("we," "our," "us," "CytRx," or the "company") and Benjamin S. Levin, our former Senior Vice President and General Counsel, entered into a retirement agreement and mutual general release pursuant to which Mr. Levin retired from the company as of May 31, 2016, subject to certain statutory periods during which Mr. Levin is entitled to revoke the retirement agreement and mutual general release. We refer to the expiration of such periods as the "effective date." In the retirement agreement and general release, Mr. Levin has agreed to make himself reasonably available to assist in our transition to a new general counsel and we have agreed to:

- (a) pay to Mr. Levin $230,000, less applicable tax withholdings and deductions required by law, as a lump sum not later than ten days after the effective date of the retirement agreement and general release; and
- (b) continue at our expense Mr. Levin's coverage and benefits under our health insurance plan until November 30, 2016, after which he shall have the right to elect insurance continuation coverage at his own expense.

In the retirement agreement and mutual general release, we also have agreed that Mr. Levin's unvested stock options as of May 31, 2016 will continue to vest in accordance with their original vesting schedule, except in certain events, and that all of the stock options held by him will be exercisable at any time until the respective expiration dates of the stock options, in each case, without regard to the termination of his employment.

The foregoing payment and benefits are in lieu of any severance or other compensation to Mr. Levin under the terms of his former employment agreement.

The retirement agreement and mutual general release includes mutual, general releases by Mr. Levin and us of any and all claims based upon events or facts that occurred or existed from and to the date of execution of the retirement agreement and mutual general release, subject to certain excluded claims.
