Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements
March 31, 2007 and 2006

Note A - Organization and Description of Business

American Ammunition, Inc. (AAI or Company) was incorporated on February 1, 2000 in accordance with the Laws of the State of California. The Company functions as a holding company providing management oversight services to it's wholly-owned operating subsidiaries; F&F Equipment, Inc. and Industrial Plating Enterprise Co.

F&F Equipment, Inc.(F&F) was incorporated on October 4, 1983 in accordance with the Laws of the State of Florida. F&F is engaged in the design, manufacture and international sales of small arms ammunition. F&F has conducted its business operations under the assumed name of "American Ammunition" since its inception.

Industrial Plating Enterprise Co. (IPE), which was incorporated and commenced production on June 14, 2002. IPE is a fully licensed and approved state of the art electrochemical metallization facility for processing the Company's line of small arms projectiles as well as other products and services while employing environmentally sound water conservation and proven waste treatment techniques. The facility meets or exceeds all current environmental requirements and enjoys the "conditionally exempt small quantity generator" status for State and Federal regulations. All activities of IPE since it's inception have been dedicated to the needs and demands of F&F.

On January 9, 2006, by written consent in lieu of meeting, a majority of the Company's stockholders approved a recommendation by the Company's Board of Directors to effect a one share for twenty shares reverse stock split of our common stock, par value $.001 per share, with fractional shares rounded up to the nearest whole share. The reverse split became effective on that date. As a result of the reverse split, the total number of issued and outstanding shares of the Company's common stock decreased from 92,576,839 to 4,629,381shares, after giving effect to rounding for fractional shares. The effect of this action is reflected in the Company's financial statements as of the first day of the first period presented.

Note B - Preparation of Financial Statements

Edgar Filing: AMERICAN AMMUNITION INC/FL - Form 10QSB/A

The Company and its subsidiaries follow the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America and have adopted a year-end of December 31 for all entities.

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

American Ammunition, Inc. and Subsidiaries Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements - Continued March 31, 2007 and 2006

Management further acknowledges that it is solely responsible for adopting sound accounting practices, establishing and maintaining a system of internal accounting control and preventing and detecting fraud. The Company's system of internal accounting control is designed to assure, among other items, that 1) recorded transactions are valid; 2) valid transactions are recorded; and 3) transactions are recorded in the proper period in a timely manner to produce financial statements which present fairly the financial condition, results of operations and cash flows of the Company for the respective periods being presented

During interim periods, the Company follows the accounting policies set forth in its annual audited financial statements filed with the U. S. Securities and Exchange Commission on its Annual Report on Form 10-KSB for the year ended December 31, 2006. The information presented within these interim financial statements may not include all disclosures required by generally accepted accounting principles and the users of financial information provided for interim periods should refer to the annual financial information and footnotes when reviewing the interim financial results presented herein.

In the opinion of management, the accompanying interim financial statements, prepared in accordance with the U. S. Securities and Exchange Commission's instructions for Form 10-QSB, are unaudited and contain all material adjustments, consisting only of normal recurring adjustments necessary to present fairly the financial condition, results of operations and cash flows of the Company for the respective interim periods presented. The current period results of operations are not necessarily indicative of results which ultimately will be reported for the full fiscal year ending December 31, 2007.

For segment reporting purposes, the Company operated in only one industry segment during the periods represented in the accompanying financial statements and makes all operating decisions and allocates resources based on the best benefit to the Company as a whole.

The accompanying consolidated financial statements contain the accounts of American Ammunition, Inc. and its wholly-owned subsidiaries, F&F Equipment, Inc. and Industrial Plating Enterprise Co. All significant intercompany transactions have been eliminated. The consolidated entities are collectively referred to as "Company".

Note C - Going Concern Uncertainty

The Company continues to experience fluctuating periodic revenues, as demonstrated in Note P. The Company's operations consistently demonstrate a negative cash flow position as evidenced by net cash used in operating activities of approximately $(1,716,000), $(1,802,000), $(649,000), $(2,918,000), $(1,236,000) and $(1,100,000) for each of the respective years ended December 31, 2006, 2005, 2004, 2003, 2002 and 2001.

The Company has sustained liquidity through the sale of equity securities, restricted and unrestricted, domestically and in international markets and significant working capital advances have been made by members of management and/or existing shareholders. Future liquidity may be dependent upon future offerings of debt and/or equity securities; however, the availability of further liquidity from these sources is uncertain.

American Ammunition, Inc. and Subsidiaries

The Company's continued existence is principally dependent upon its ability to generate sufficient cash flows from operations to support its daily operations on a timely basis. There is no assurance that the Company will be able to obtain raw materials in sufficient quantity, due to its financial condition, to ensure success of its business plan. Further the ability to obtain additional funding through the sales of additional equity securities or, that such funding, if available, will be obtained on terms favorable to or affordable by the Company is uncertain.

The Company anticipates that additional working capital will be necessary to support and preserve the integrity of the corporate entity. However, there is no assurance that the Company will be able to obtain additional funding through either bank lines-of-credit or the sale of additional equity securities or, that such funding, if available, will be obtained on terms favorable to or affordable by the Company.

If no additional operating capital is received during the next twelve months, the Company will be forced to rely on existing cash in the bank, the cash generated from operating activities and/or additional funds loaned by the Company's management and/or shareholders to preserve the integrity of the corporate entity. In the event, the Company is unable to acquire advances from management and/or significant stockholders, the Company's ongoing operations would be negatively impacted to the point that all operating activities are ceased.

While the Company is of the opinion that good faith estimates of the Company's ability to secure additional capital in the future to reach our goals have been made, there is no guarantee that the Company will receive sufficient funding to sustain operations or implement any future business plan steps.

1. Cash and cash equivalents

For Statement of Cash Flows purposes, the Company considers all cash on hand and in banks, certificates of deposit and other highly-liquid investments with maturities of three months or less, when purchased, to be cash and cash equivalents.

Cash overdraft positions may occur from time to time due to the timing of making bank deposits and releasing checks, in accordance with the Company's cash management policies.

American Ammunition, Inc. and Subsidiaries
March 31, 2007 and 2006

Note D - Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

2. Accounts receivable and Revenue Recognition

In the normal course of business, the Company extends unsecured credit to virtually all of its customers which are located throughout the United States. Because of the credit risk involved, management has provided an allowance for doubtful accounts which reflects its opinion of amounts which will eventually become uncollectible. In the event of complete non-performance, the maximum exposure to the Company is the recorded amount of trade accounts receivable shown on the balance sheet at the date of non-performance.

The Company ships all product on an FOB-Plant, "as-is" basis. Accordingly, revenue is recognized by the Company at the point at which an order is shipped at a fixed price, collection is reasonably assured and the Company has no remaining performance obligations related to the sale. The Company sells all products with "no right of return" by the purchaser for any factor other than defects in the product's production.

On rare occasion, the Company may elect to accept product returns from customers on a case-by-case basis to offset unpaid accounts receivable. These situations are a "last case" scenario and are initiated by senior management through negotiations with the respective customer.

3. Inventory

Inventory consists of raw materials, work-in-process and finished goods related to the production and sale of small arms ammunition. Inventory is valued at the lower of cost or market using the first-in, first-out method.

In November 2004, Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") issued Statement of Financial Accounting Standards ("Statement") No. 151, "Inventory Costs - an amendment of Accounting Research Bulletin No. 43, Chapter 4." Statement No. 151 requires that abnormal amounts of costs, including idle facility expense, freight, handling costs and spoilage, should be recognized as current period charges. The provisions of this Statement became effective for inventory costs incurred during fiscal years beginning after June 15, 2005. Statement No. 151 was adopted the Company on

January 1, 2006. There was no material impact resulting from the adoption of Statement No. 151 on the Company's financial statements.

4. Property, plant and equipment

Property and equipment are recorded at historical cost. These costs are depreciated over the estimated useful lives of the individual assets using the straight-line method, generally three to ten years.

Gains and losses from disposition of property and equipment are recognized as incurred and are included in operations.

5. Income Taxes

The Company uses the asset and liability method of accounting for income taxes. At March 31, 2007 and 2006, the deferred tax asset and deferred tax liability accounts, as recorded when material to the financial statements, are entirely the result of temporary differences. Temporary differences represent differences in the recognition of assets and liabilities for tax and financial reporting purposes, primarily accumulated depreciation and amortization, allowance for doubtful accounts and vacation accruals.

As of March 31, 2007 and 2006, the deferred tax asset related to the Company's net operating loss carryforward is fully reserved. In the event that these carryforwards were not fully utilized, they began to expire in 2005.

6. Earnings (loss) per share

Basic earnings (loss) per share is computed by dividing the net income (loss) available to common shareholders by the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding during the respective period presented in our accompanying financial statements.

Fully diluted earnings (loss) per share is computed similar to basic income (loss) per share except that the denominator is increased to include the number of common stock equivalents (primarily outstanding options and warrants).

Common stock equivalents represent the dilutive effect of the assumed exercise of the outstanding stock options and warrants, using the treasury stock method, at either the beginning of the respective period presented or the date of issuance, whichever is later, and only if the common stock equivalents are considered dilutive based upon the Company's net income (loss) position at the calculation date.

As of March 31, 2007 and 2006, and subsequent thereto, the Company had no options outstanding. The outstanding warrants, mandatory convertible preferred stock and mandatory convertible debentures are anti-dilutive due to the Company's net operating loss position.

Edgar Filing: AMERICAN AMMUNITION INC/FL - Form 10QSB/A

7. Advertising costs

The Company does not conduct any direct response advertising activities. For non-direct response advertising, the Company charges the costs of these efforts to operations at the first time the related advertising is published.

8. Pending and/or New Accounting Pronouncements

The Company is of the opinion that any pending accounting pronouncements, either in the adoption phase or not yet required to be adopted, will not have a significant impact on the Company's financial position or results of operations.

American Ammunition, Inc. and Subsidiaries

Note E - Correction of an Error

On August 22, 2007, our management concluded that the financial statements included in our Forms 10-QSB for June and September 2005, the calendar year 2006 and for the period ending March 31, 2007, and the Forms 10-KSB for the periods ending December 31, 2005 and December 31, 2006, all of which have been previously filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission, need to be restated, due to the failure to include the beneficial conversion feature discount on unsecured convertible indebtedness.

Management discovered such changes needed to be made after consulting with Pollard-Kelley Auditing Services, our independent registered public accounting firm as of June 26, 2007, who have concurred with management as to the reexamination of the above mentioned issues.

The Company has entered into certain notes payable to shareholders and other affiliated parties with embedded conversion features and warrant issues. The appropriate accounting is governed by EITF 98-5: "Accounting for convertible securities with beneficial conversion features or contingency adjustable conversion" and EITF No. 00-27: "Application of issue No 98-5 to certain convertible instruments". Conversion features determined to be beneficial to the holder are valued at fair value and recorded to additional paid in capital. The fair value is determined to be ascribed to the detachable warrants issued with the convertible debentures utilizing the Black-Scholes method. Any discount derived from determining the fair value to the debenture conversion features and warrants is amortized to financing cost over the life of the debenture. The unamortized discount, if any, upon the conversion of the debentures is expensed to financing cost on a pro rata basis.

Debt issues with the variable conversion features are considered to be embedded derivatives and are accountable in accordance with FASB 133; "Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities". The fair value of the embedded derivative is recorded to derivative liability. This liability is required to be marked each reporting period. The resulting discount on the debt is amortized to interest expense over the life of the related debt.

In light of the restatements to the financial statements disclosed above, caused, in part, by a failure in the Company's internal control over financing reporting due to the limitations in the Company's accounting resources to identify and react in a timely manner to non-routine, complex and/or transactions originated by other parties on the Company's behalf, as well as gaining an adequate understanding of the disclosure requirements relating to these types of transactions, we feel that the existing controls and procedures were and remain effective. Because of said controls, which resulted in the review, discovery and disclosure by amendment of filings to adequately disclose required information, management also concludes that by requiring supplemental reviews of financing transactions that its existing controls and procedures will be more effective.

Restatement issues

The March 31, 2007 and 2006 financial statements have been restated to account for the derivative liability that was incurred in connection with the common stock conversion features and the warrants issued with certain notes payable.

The Company accounts for debt with embedded conversion features and warrant issues in accordance with EITF 98-5: "Accounting for convertible securities with beneficial conversion features or contingency adjustable conversion" and EITF No. 00-27: "Application of issue No 98-5 to certain convertible instruments". Conversion features determined to be beneficial to the holder are valued at fair value and recorded to additional paid in capital. The Company determines the fair value to be ascribed to the detachable warrants issued with the convertible debentures utilizing the Black-Scholes method. Any discount derived from determining the fair value to the debenture conversion features and warrants is amortized to financing cost over the life of the debenture. The unamortized discount, if any, upon the conversion of the debentures is expensed to financing cost on a pro rata basis.

Debt issues with the variable conversion features are considered to be embedded derivatives and are accountable in accordance with FASB 133; "Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities". The fair value of the embedded derivative is recorded to derivative liability. This liability is required to be marked each reporting period. The resulting discount on the debt is amortized to interest expense over the life of the related debt.

F&F Equipment, Inc. (F&F) was incorporated on October 4, 1983 under the laws of the State of Florida. F&F was formed to engage principally in the "import, export, retail & wholesale of firearms equipment, ammunition & other devices and for the purpose of transacting any and/or all lawful business." F&F conducts its business operations under the assumed name of "American Ammunition."

Edgar Filing: AMERICAN AMMUNITION INC/FL - Form 10QSB/A

In June 2002, American Ammunition, Inc. formed a wholly owned subsidiary, Industrial Plating Enterprise Co. (IPE), which started production on June 14, 2002. IPE is a fully licensed and approved electrochemical metallization facility with significant capacity for processing our line of projectiles as well as other products and services while employing environmentally sound water conservation and proven waste treatment techniques.

Results of Operations

Three months ended March 31, 2007 compared with the three months ended March 31, 2006.

During the three months ended March 31, 2007, we experienced aggregate net revenues of approximately $690,000, as compared to approximately $710,000 during the first quarter of Calendar 2006. We experienced costs of goods sold of approximately $917,000 for the three months ended March 31, 2007 as compared to approximately $1,378,000 for the three months ended March 31, 2006.

We have expanded our product line during the last quarter of 2006 and the first quarter of 2007 as we have identified a market demand for additional rifle cartridges and "cowboy action shooting" calibers. While we continue to experience strong interest and/or demand and are experiencing increasing orders for these products, our current volumes cause production delays in managing our production tooling setups to produce all of the products in our catalog. We believe that our order quantities will increase to a level to allow for more efficient utilization of our production capacities.

The various raw materials that are integral components of our manufacturing processes are currently subject to rapidly increasing pressures caused by foreign demand, limitations on mining/production and commodity market speculation for both our costs and the overall availability of these resources. We are experiencing direct pressure in the marketplace for the brass component of our ammunition manufacture by recent orders for copper placed by the People's Republic of China. We have also experienced periodic limitations or allocations on the availability of lead for projectile manufacture due to increased demand for this commodity and limitations on the opening of new domestic mines for lead due to various Federal and State environmental laws and regulations. In conjunction with the large order for raw copper placed by the Chinese, the marketplace has experienced a substantial increase in futures speculation on this and other comparable commodities in the financial exchanges. Further, we experience competition for raw materials from our competitors that are better funded and have earned priority status among our suppliers.

We are also experiencing the effect of rapidly increasing energy costs, not only in our own plant; but, in the costs of our raw materials and supplies being purchased from other vendors that are forced to pass these costs through to their customers, including us.

All of these discussed factors are causing significant fluctuation in the prices that we must pay for our raw materials that may or may not be able to be passed through to our customers through price increases. Our management is monitoring both the cost side of this equation and the availability of price increases to our customers and to their end-users. The balancing of these events is highly unpredictable and uncertain as we go forward into future periods.

Edgar Filing: AMERICAN AMMUNITION INC/FL - Form 10QSB/A

During 2006 and 2005, we experienced negative trends off of our standard production costs for material and labor due to difficulties in training new employees, adding new products to our catalog and lower than expected orders due to uncontrollable delays in ordering by various U. S. Governmental entities. Management is of the opinion that the production labor force is stable and able to maintain a constant standard of quality for future periods. We experience variable costs in the area of material consumption and direct labor. We have recognized depreciation expense on production equipment of approximately $41,300 and $31,000, respectively, in the above cost of goods expense totals. These depreciation levels are anticipated to fluctuate nominally in future periods based upon either the full depreciation of older equipment and/or the addition of new equipment to expand capacity. In the second quarter of 2006, management took drastic steps to reduce excess labor capacity through the elimination of the 2nd shift, which was never able to reach full utilization. This action is not expected to have any adverse impact on our ability to meet our existing and future product demands.

For the three months ended March 31, 2007 and 2006, respectively, we generated a negative gross profit of approximately $(227,000) or (32.84%), and approximately $(668,000) or (94.06%). While we have a backlog of orders and future order commitments from retail customers, distributors and/or governmental agencies, we anticipate that we should be able to generate a positive gross profit in future periods; however, there are no guarantees or any certainty that this will occur.

We experienced nominal research and development expenses of approximately $600 and $-0-, during each of the three month periods ended March 31, 2007 and 2006, principally related to research related to the potential expansion of our product line.

In 2004, the Company initiated a direct solicitation program for a "dealer direct" sales program. This endeavor has received a very positive response from the qualified retail resellers of our products. However, we are realizing that the existence of previously announced contracts with various U. S. Governmental agencies and orders from foreign governments are becoming more erratic in their order placements. Accordingly, management is realizing that a consistent demand from the U. S. retail segment will be our best source of consistent sales. Further, we have identified certain production issues which has inhibited the full realization of existing product demands and management believes that the necessary steps are being taken to remedy any production deficiencies.

During the first quarters of 2007 and 2006, we expended approximately $32,400 and $56,000, respectively, in advertising and marketing expenses, principally in continuing the promotion and expansion of our retail dealer direct program. We anticipate to continue our marketing efforts in this area in future periods; however, the volume and frequency of our expenditures may fluctuate as management allocates available capital to these efforts. Other general and administrative expenses increased nominally from approximately $275,000 for the three months ended March 31, 2007 as compared to approximately $375,000 for the three months ended March 31, 2006. Management is of the opinion that these costs are relatively stable and should not experience significant increases except for inflationary pressures caused principally by increases in energy costs which are affecting all businesses in all sectors of the U. S. economy.

We recognized a net loss of approximately $(576,000) and $(946,000) for the respective three month periods ended March 31, 2007 and 2006, respectively, or $(0.03) and $(0.29) per share. We wish to note that the loss per share includes the effect of our 1 for 20 reverse stock split on January 9, 2006.

Liquidity And Capital Resources

As of March 31, 2007, December 31, 2006 and March 31, 2006, respectively, we had working capital of approximately $296,000, $684,000 and $(1,604,000). Our working capital position continues to fluctuate based on collections on our trade accounts receivable. We anticipate that we have sufficient inventory levels to support our order demand and have access to raw material suppliers that will enable us to receive raw materials for future periods. We also note that at the end of 2006, we renegotiated $1,075,000 in notes payable to existing shareholders to long-term status with renewed maturity dates of December 31, 2008. Due to this relationship, these notes may or may not be renegotiated, repaid in common stock of the Company or otherwise reclassified prior to their maturity on December 31, 2008.

We have used cash in operating activities of approximately $(467,000) and $(385,000) during each of the quarters ended March 31, 2007 and 2006, respectively. Due to our history of operating losses, our resources for additional working capital are becoming more scarce.

We anticipate that our liquidity position will continue to improve as management is of the opinion that, with the current changes to our production capacity, the Company will be in a position to better support all existing orders and accept existing and future inquiries.

During the quarters ended March 31, 2007 and 2006, respectively, we added approximately $41,000 and $31,000 in new equipment. Any equipment to be added in future periods is fully dependent upon the Company's cash position, the availability of either new equity or debt capital and the ultimate realization of communicated future product sales demand. However, we may not be able to obtain additional funding or, that such funding, if available, will be obtained on terms favorable to or affordable by us.

ITEM 3 - Controls and Procedures

Under the supervision and with the participation of our management, including our principal executive officer and principal financial officer, we conducted an evaluation of our disclosure controls and procedures, as such term is defined under Rule 13a-15(e) promulgated under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (Exchange Act), for the quarter ended March 31, 2007.
