Dear [EBS/BRS Lessor]:

As a valuable partner in our business, Sprint Nextel Corp. wants to share some exciting news with you. Today, Sprint Nextel and Clearwire announced that they will combine their 2.5 GHz band wireless broadband businesses to form a new wireless communications company. The new company, which will take on the Clearwire name, will be able to bring the full benefits of the 2.5 GHz band to the educational community and to American consumers more rapidly than either company could ever accomplish alone.

The new Clearwire will be focused on expediting the deployment of the first nationwide mobile WiMAX broadband network and creating an opportunity to deliver new products and services that we believe will dramatically change the way that students, faculty and the community at large access the Internet – combining mobility and speed with access anytime and anywhere, whether at home, at school or on the road. In addition to leveraging our current wireless broadband product portfolio of high-speed Internet service and PC Cards, we expect that the new Clearwire will offer its users enhanced access to information, applications, on-line entertainment and new means of communication.

We believe that this transaction is great news for you, the EBS community and other licensees that hold spectrum in the 2.5 GHz band, as it should enable the spectrum that Sprint Nextel leases from you to be developed more quickly into this nationwide advanced mobile broadband network. We expect the transaction to close in the fourth quarter of 2008 after obtaining the necessary shareholder and regulatory approvals.

A copy of today's announcement is attached for your convenience. As a publicly-traded company, we are limited in what we can say about the transaction at this time; however, we will communicate further details to you as soon as we can. In the meantime, if you would like to learn more, please visit our website at www.sprint.com.

Thank you for continuing to play a key role in Sprint Nextel's success in bringing 2.5 GHz wireless broadband services to communities across the United States. We know that many of Sprint's approximately 54 million customers are looking forward to upgrade their service to WiMAX. Thank you also for partnering with Sprint Nextel and helping us transform the telecommunications industry with this advanced-capability mobile WiMAX network. We look forward to a long and continued relationship with you as we devote our energy and resources to deliver faster, simple, reliable and affordable mobile broadband services over a nationwide advanced 2.5 GHz wireless broadband network.

Best regards,

Robert Finch
Vice President
Spectrum Development
