HAMILTON, Bermuda, February 10, 2009 (BUSINESS WIRE) — Textainer Group Holdings Limited (NYSE:TGH) (“Textainer” or the “Company”), the world’s largest lessor of intermodal containers based on fleet size, today reported results for the fourth quarter and the year ended December 31, 2008.

Total revenue for the quarter was $65.6 million, which was a decrease of $5.1 million, or 7%, compared to $70.6 million in the prior year quarter primarily due to an $8.8 million, or 72%, decrease in trading container sales proceeds to $3.4 million compared to $12.2 million in the prior year quarter due to a decline in the number of trading containers available for sale. EBITDA(1) for the quarter was $40.9 million, which was a decrease of $0.2 million, or 1%, compared to $41.2 million in the prior year quarter.

Net income excluding unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net(1) for the quarter was $26.3 million, a 43% increase over the $18.4 million earned in the prior year quarter. Net income per diluted common share excluding unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net(1) for the quarter was $0.55 per share, a 41% increase over the $0.39 per share in the prior year quarter. Net income for the quarter was $12.9 million, which was a decrease of $2.1 million, or 14%, compared to $15.0 million in the prior year quarter, primarily due to an increase in unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net of $12.5 million, partially offset by a net tax benefit for the quarter of $4.0 million compared to a tax expense of $2.2 million in the prior year quarter as the Company re-measured its income tax liabilities, which resulted in a net reduction in income tax expense as less activity was occurring in certain taxing jurisdictions in which the Company conducts business.

Total revenues for the year ended December 31, 2008 increased by $21.3 million, or 8%, to $277.1 million compared to $255.8 million for the prior year. EBITDA(1) for the year ended December 31, 2008 increased by $23.7 million, or 15%, to $177.7 million compared to $154.0 million for the prior year.

Net income excluding unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net(1) for the year ended December 31, 2008 was $97.3 million, a 33% increase over the $73.3 million earned in the prior year. Net income per diluted common share excluding unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net(1) for the year ended December 31, 2008 was $2.03 per share, a 13% increase over the $1.80 per share for the prior year. Net income for the year ended December 31, 2008 was $85.2 million, a 26% increase over the $67.7 million for the prior year.

John A. Maccarone, President and CEO of Textainer commented, “We are pleased with our strong 2008 fourth quarter and full year results. In addition to posting strong net income for the quarter and year, 2008’s net income was the highest in Textainer’s history and we recorded impressive results in virtually every area.”

of the business. Specifically, we increased long-term lease originations, maintained high utilization rates, realized historically high margins on container sales, renewed and expanded our debt facilities and entered into the refrigerated container market. While the overall demand for our containers started to decline in the fourth quarter, utilization averaged 95.7% during the quarter and 94.8% for the year. This high utilization for the quarter and year further supports our strategy of securing a large portion of our containers on long-term contracts with a diverse group of shipping lines. In addition, our container resale segment had the best year in its history. Full year resale income before taxes of $14.3 million exceeded last year's record results by $4.0 million, or 38%.

Mr. Maccarone continued, With today's announced dividend of $0.23 per share, Textainer has declared its sixth consecutive quarterly dividend since going public in October of 2007 and Textainer has paid dividends for nineteen consecutive years. As a public company, we have declared cumulative dividends of $1.32 per share, while targeting a conservative payout ratio of 50%, enabling the Company to retain a conservative leverage ratio. Furthermore, in this difficult environment, we have maintained one of the strongest liquidity positions in the industry. Our over $300 million in available credit bodes well for Textainer to be able to take advantage of the current weakness in the market and seek attractive opportunities in acquisitions and sale and leaseback and long-term lease transactions. During challenging economic times, we remain committed to implementing strategies that maximize utilization, and continue to focus on leveraging Textainer's experience, size and scope to best serve its customers.

Outlook

Industry

During the second half of 2008, a global financial crisis, particularly affecting the credit markets as well as equity markets, accelerated and the global recession deepened. Though Textainer cannot predict the extent, duration or ramifications of the global financial crisis and the global recession, the Company believes that the current downturn in the world's major economies and the constraints in the credit markets is likely to cause containerized cargo volume growth to slow or contract on some trade routes in 2009. Typically, a slowdown in containerized cargo volume growth leads to a surplus of containers, lower utilization, higher direct costs (mainly storage costs), weaker shipping lines going out of business and a reduction in the size of container fleets. While near-term demand has clearly been affected by the global recession, over the long-term we expect the industry could continue to grow at about 2.4 times global GDP, a level that was achieved through several cycles from 1980 to 2007.

Textainer's Operations

Although Textainer's utilization reached a record high during 2008, redeliveries of containers have recently increased significantly with a notable decline in leaseouts, contributing to a decline in utilization. Textainer has been advised by some of its customers that heavy redeliveries are expected to continue at least through March or April of 2009. Approximately 80% of these redeliveries have been in Asia, where Textainer expects demand for containers to increase to the extent that market conditions improve. This should help mitigate empty repositioning costs the Company might otherwise incur. In addition, Textainer is rationing remaining available storage space in some locations and offering alternative redelivery points due to a lack of storage space, primarily in some locations in Asia and Europe. Finally, to date, there have been four bankruptcies and defaults among Textainer's smaller customers, totaling about 1% of the Company's owned and managed fleets, in which a substantial portion of the containers have already been recovered or are in the process of being recovered. In 2009, Textainer expects that there could be more bankruptcies from smaller customers and demands for rental rate discounts.

Textainer does not currently anticipate that a large long-term surplus of leased containers will develop, due to a substantial decline in production of new containers and an increase in disposal rates for older standard dry freight containers by shipping lines and lessors. Most factories that produce containers have been closed and the companies operating them have indicated that they will not reopen these factories at least until April 2009. Since many shipping lines are currently finding it difficult to access debt financing, but still must utilize scarce capital to finance vessels, it is possible that they will conclude in 2009, as they did in 2008, that it will be more cost-effective to extend leases of in-fleet containers than either to buy containers at higher prices or to lease new containers. Additionally, in order to keep utilization as high as possible during the current economic downturn, Textainer's main focus is to extend the leases of in-fleet containers as shipping lines seek to reduce operating costs because of declining freight rates.

Strategic Focus

Textainer's long-term strategy is to grow both organically and through acquisitions. The Company believes that the challenges facing our industry, which are noted above, may result in potential acquisition opportunities. As a result of renewing, amending and expanding its credit facilities in 2008, Textainer has more than $300 million of liquidity with its credit facilities and available cash and maintains low leverage relative to past levels. Despite the difficulty in projecting future results in the current economic environment, the Company intends to actively seek accretive acquisition opportunities in the months ahead.

Another possible area for growth Textainer intends to pursue is the sale and leaseback of customer-owned containers. These sale and leaseback transactions can be attractive to customers because they free up cash for other capital needs, such as vessel financing. The Company expects these sale and leaseback transactions will enable Textainer to buy attractively priced containers from customers and place them on leases for the remainder of their marine service lives.

Dividend

On February 9, 2009, Textainer's board of directors approved and declared a quarterly cash dividend of $0.23 per share on Textainer's issued and outstanding common shares, payable on March 3, 2009 to shareholders of record as of February 20, 2009. This dividend is unchanged from the prior quarter and will be the sixth quarterly dividend since Textainer's October 2007 initial public offering, for a total of $1.32 per share in dividend payments since the offering was completed. The dividend represents 42% of net income excluding unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net for the fourth quarter.

(1) The following is a reconciliation of net income to EBITDA, a reconciliation of net income to net income excluding unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net and a reconciliation of net income per diluted common share to net income per diluted common share excluding unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net for the three months and years ended December 31, 2008 and 2007. EBITDA (defined as net income before interest income and interest expense, realized and unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net, income tax (benefit) expense, minority interest (benefit) expense, depreciation and amortization expense and the related impact on minority interest (benefit) expense), net income excluding unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net (defined as net income before unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net and the related impact on income tax (benefit) expense and minority interest (benefit) expense) and net income per diluted common share excluding unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net (defined as net income per diluted common share before unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net and the related impact on income tax (benefit) expense and minority interest (benefit) expense) are not financial measures calculated in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) and should not be considered as an alternative to net income, income from operations or any other performance measures derived in accordance with GAAP or as an alternative to cash flows from operating activities as a measure of our liquidity. EBITDA, net income excluding unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net and net income per diluted common share excluding unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net are presented solely as supplemental disclosures. Management believes that EBITDA may be a useful performance measure that is widely used within our industry and net income excluding unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net may be a useful performance measure because Textainer intends to hold its interest rate swaps until maturity and over the life of an interest rate swap held to maturity the unrealized (gains) or losses will net to zero. EBITDA is not calculated in the same manner by all companies and, accordingly, may not be an appropriate measure for comparison. Management also believes that net income excluding unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net and net income per diluted common share excluding unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net are useful in evaluating our operating performance because unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net is a noncash, non-operating item. We believe EBITDA, net income excluding unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net and net income per diluted common share excluding unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net provides useful information on our earnings from ongoing operations. We believe that EBITDA provides useful information on our ability to service our long-term debt and other fixed obligations and on our ability to fund our expected growth with internally generated funds. EBITDA, net income excluding unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net and net income per diluted common share excluding unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net have limitations as analytical tools, and you should not consider either of them in isolation, or as a substitute for analysis of our operating results or cash flows as reported under GAAP. Some of these limitations are:

They do not reflect our cash expenditures, or future requirements, for capital expenditures or contractual commitments;

They do not reflect changes in, or cash requirements for, our working capital needs;

EBITDA does not reflect interest expense or cash requirements necessary to service interest or principal payments on our debt;

Although depreciation is a noncash charge, the assets being depreciated may be replaced in the future, and neither EBITDA, net income excluding unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net or net income per diluted common share excluding unrealized losses on interest rate swaps, net reflects any cash requirements for such replacements;

They are not adjusted for all noncash income or expense items that are reflected in our statements of cash flows; and

Edgar Filing: TEXTAINER GROUP HOLDINGS LTD - Form 6-K

Other companies in our industry may calculate these measures differently than we do, limiting their usefulness as comparative measures.
