Mr. Paulo Penido Pinto Marques
Investor Relations Officer

Dear Sir:

Considering the terms of the call notice of the Extraordinary General Meeting (AGE) to be held on March 16, 2010 and for a better explanation to the market, we request the following information:

Capital stock structure after the split;

Date when shares resulting from the split will be credited; and

If shares to be issued due to split of shares representing the capital stock will have equal conditions to all benefits, including dividends, interest on equity and other to be approved by the company?

Sincerely yours,

Jorge Antonio Tambucci

In compliance with the Official Letter GAE/CREM 279/10 of March 2, 2010, which refers to the call notice of Companhia Siderúrgica Nacional's Extraordinary General Meeting to be held on March 16, 2010, we clarify the following:

Once approved the split of a number of shares representing the Company's capital stock, each share of the capital stock shall be then represented by two shares. Thus, the Company's capital stock will be represented by 1,510,359,220 common shares.

The shares deriving from the split (i) shall be automatically credited by the depositary bank, Itaú Corretora de Valores S.A., on the day following the split approval by the General Meeting to all shareholders domiciled in Brazil and holding equity position on the date of approval; (ii) shares shall be of same type and shall entitle their holders to the same rights of shares already held, including dividends, interest on equity and other to be approved by the Company.

ADRs holders shall have exactly the same rights of local residents and shall be credited according to a specific schedule to be informed by the depositary agent of ADRs, JP Morgan Chase, and the share/ADR (American Depositary Receipt) ratio shall be maintained at 1/1, i.e., each ADR continuing to be represented by one share.

Rio de Janeiro, March 3, 2010.

Paulo Penido Pinto Marques
Investor Relations Officer
