RBS Exchange Traded Notes

[GRAPHIC OMITTED]

The RBS Gold Trendpilot(TM) Exchange Traded Notes (RBS ETNs) are unsecured and unsubordinated obligations of The Royal Bank of Scotland N.V. (RBS NV), and are fully and unconditionally guaranteed by RBS Holdings N.V. (RBS Holdings).

RBS ETNs track the RBS Gold Trendpilot(TM) Index (USD) (the "Index"). The Index utilizes a systematic trend-following strategy to provide exposure to either the price of gold bullion or the yield on a hypothetical notional investment in 3-month U.S. Treasury bills (the "Cash Rate"). The Index is designed to provide exposure to the price of gold bullion in positive trending markets and exposure to the Cash Rate in negative trending markets using an objective and transparent methodology.

RBS GOLD TRENDPILOT(TM) INDEX METHODOLOGY

If the price of gold bullion is at or above its historical 200-business day simple moving average for five consecutive business days

A positive trend is established:
The Index will track the price of gold bullion

If the price of gold bullion is below its historical 200-business day simple moving average for five consecutive business days

A negative trend is established:

INDEX PERFORMANCE (RETROSPECTIVELY CALCULATED FOR ALL TIME PERIODS): You should be aware that because the Index was only created on January 24, 2011, no actual Index information existed before then. All Index information presented below was retrospectively calculated as if the Index had been in existence during those periods. All prices of gold bullion are based on historical performance. The retrospectively calculated and historical index performance should not be taken as any indication of future performance of the Index or the RBS ETNs. The performance information below also does not include the RBS ETN investor fee or any transaction costs or expenses.

COMPARISON OF ANNUAL RETURNS

[GRAPHIC OMITTED]

Source: Bloomberg. The graph above illustrates the retrospectively calculated annual return of the Index and the historical annual return of the price of gold bullion for each calendar year from 1980-2010.

RISK TO RETURN (12/31/00-12/31/10)

[GRAPHIC OMITTED]

Source: Bloomberg. Average Annual Return in the graph above is derived by taking the sum of the annual return over ten 12-month periods (from Dec. to Dec. year-to-year, from 12/31/00-12/31/10), divided by ten. Average Annualized Volatility refers to the sum of the annualized volatility over ten 12-month periods (from Dec. to Dec. year-to-year, from 12/31/00-12/31/10), divided by ten.

COMPARISON OF CUMULATIVE 10-YEAR ANNUALIZED RETURNS

[GRAPHIC OMITTED]

Source: Bloomberg. Cumulative 10-Year Annualized Returns in the graph above illustrates the geometric average annualized return of the Index and the price of gold bullion, as applicable, based on the cumulative return of the Index and the prices of gold bullion over ten-year periods (from 12/31 of the tenth year prior and ending on 12/31 of the year presented), assuming annual compounding. Geometric average annualized return in this case means the constant rate of return applied to each year within the relevant 10-year period, compounded annually, resulting in the cumulative return of the Index and the prices of gold bullion, as applicable, over the relevant 10-year period. Please be aware that the Index did not exist and an investment in the Index was not possible during the time periods presented above. Further, we may redeem the RBS ETNs at any time at our option. If we do so, you may not be able to own any investment in the RBS ETNs or the Index over any minimum time period.

*Standard Deviation is a measure of the volatility of an asset, and illustrates the extent of variation (whether higher or lower) that exists from the average of a given set of results. A low standard deviation indicates that the results tend to be very close to the average result (a low degree of volatility). In contrast, a high standard deviation indicates that the results are spread out over a large range of outcomes (a high degree of volatility). Maximum drawdown measures the decrease in the value of an asset from its historical highest value in a given period to its lowest value in that period. Maximum drawdown expresses that decrease as a percentage.

CERTAIN RISK CONSIDERATIONS: The RBS ETNs involve risks not associated with an investment in conventional debt securities, including a possible loss of some or all of your investment. The level of the Index must increase by an amount sufficient to offset the aggregate investor fee applicable to the RBS ETNs in order for you to receive at least the principal amount of your investment back at maturity or upon early repurchase or redemption. The Index may underperform the price of gold bullion, and is expected to perform poorly in volatile markets. Liquidity of the market for RBS ETNs may vary over time. The RBS ETNs do not pay interest. Any payment on the RBS ETNs is subject to ability of RBS NV, as the issuer, and RBS Holdings, as the guarantor, to pay their respective obligations when they become due. You should carefully consider whether the RBS ETNs are suited to your particular circumstances before you decide to purchase them. We urge you to consult with your investment, legal, accounting, tax and other advisors with respect to any investment in the RBS ETNs. The RBS ETNs are not suitable for all investors. You should carefully read the relevant pricing supplement and prospectus, including the more detailed explanation of the risks involved in any investment in the RBS ETNs as described in the "Risk Factors" section of the pricing supplement, before investing.

(RBS Holdings) have filed a registration statement (including a prospectus) with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) for the offering of RBS ETNs to which this communication relates.
