IMMEDIATE RELEASE

THE FIRST AMERICAN CORPORATION TO MERGE SCREENING
INFORMATION BUSINESSES WITH US SEARCH.COM INC.
*Agreement Will Create New Publicly Held Company Focused on Growth

LOS ANGELES and SANTA ANA, Calif., Dec. 16, 2002 The First American Corporation (NYSE: FAF), the nation's leading diversified provider of business information and related products and services, and US Search.com Inc. (NasdaqNM: SRCH), one of the nation's most recognized providers of location, verification and screening services, announced jointly today that the companies have signed a definitive agreement to merge their background screening businesses and form a new company that will apply for listing on the NASDAQ National Market System.

The merger, which will combine US Search's consumer location and enterprise background screening services with First American's Screening Information group, is scheduled to close during the second quarter of 2003. The combination of these businesses will create a new publicly held company that will be named First Advantage Corporation, with revenues of approximately $160 million in 2002 and anticipated long-term annual growth of 20 percent. First Advantage will be approximately 80 percent owned by The First American Corporation, with the remainder owned by the shareholders of US Search. Proxy materials, which will include specific details of the transaction, will be mailed to US Search shareholders during the first quarter of 2003.

First Advantage will immediately become a leading provider in the screening industry, ranking among the top three companies in each of its business lines. First Advantage will offer multiple products and services including: employee background screening, consumer location services, substance abuse management and testing services, resident screening services and motor vehicle driving records. First Advantage's senior management team will be drawn from both First American and US Search. Parker S. Kennedy, president of The First American Corporation, will serve as chairman; John W. Long, president of First American Screening Information group, will serve as chief executive officer; and Brent Cohen, president and chief executive officer of US Search, will serve as president of the combined company.

By merging our Screening Information businesses with US Search's operations into this new company, we give First Advantage the flexibility to participate in the rapidly consolidating screening market, while preserving First American shareholders' equity interest in this fast growing market, Kennedy said. John Long has an impressive history of building successful companies. As head of First American's Real Estate Information Services subsidiary, he directed that company's growth to more than $1 billion in revenues. Over the past two years, he has positioned our screening segment to become a highly profitable operation, and I am confident that his vision and experience will successfully guide First Advantage as it moves toward becoming the screening industry's clear leader.

Over the past two years, First American has made a series of strategic acquisitions to position its Screening Information group as an industry leader. The company's recent acquisitions of Employee Health Programs (EHP) and SafeRent have provided First American's Screening Information division with the scale and depth that will lead to significant margin improvement. EHP's integration with Substance Abuse Management, Inc. (acquired in 2001) will rank First Advantage second in the substance abuse management industry. SafeRent's combination with First American Registry positions First Advantage as the number one provider to the resident screening industry. The pairing of First American's HireCheck with US Search's employment screening division, PRSI, will allow First Advantage to claim the number three slot in the employment screening marketplace.

Nielsen/NetRatings recently ranked USSearch.com third on the list of the 20 most popular directory and local guide sites. ComScore also ranked US Search the eighth most successful paid content site. With strong relationships in place with Yahoo!®, MSN, Google and AOL, and more than 40 million unique visitors hitting the Web site each year, the company has established itself as one of the most successful online destinations. This consumer Web portal offers another channel to market First American's consumer-related products and services, including merged credit reports, property information reports, homeowner's insurance and home warranties.

By joining with US Search, we gain a technology platform that would otherwise take us three years and millions of dollars to build. We also add an employment-screening services company that complements our HireCheck operations and a strong Fortune 1000 client base to grow our market position, stated John Long. In addition, as a public company we gain direct access to capital markets and the ability to fund continued growth using a currency that will be valued consistent with other companies in the screening industry.

This merger represents a giant step forward for US Search's growth strategy and for our shareholders, said Cohen. Our businesses are highly complementary and present an opportunity for significant synergies in both the near- and mid-term, including achieving further efficiencies from implementing our DARWIN technology and cross selling of services to existing consumer and enterprise customers.

The new company will be headquartered in St. Petersburg, Fla., and will have a nationwide reach, with offices in Los Angeles; Concord, Calif.; Sacramento, Calif.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Washington D.C.; and Denver.

Lehman Brothers served as financial advisor on this transaction.
