LETTER TO SHAREHOLDERS

July 2, 2003

DEAR SHAREHOLDER:

We are writing to report on the activities of The Emerging Markets Telecommunications Fund, Inc. (the "Fund") for the six months ended May 31, 2003. The Fund's total return for the period, based on net asset value ("NAV"), was down 4.11%, vs. an increase of 6.22% for the Morgan Stanley Capital International Emerging Markets Free ("EMF") Index* and an increase of 7.99% for the telecommunications services subsector of the EMF Index.

As of May 31, 2003, the Fund's NAV was $7.00 per share, compared with $7.30 per share on November 30, 2002. Total net assets were $64,174,729.

PERFORMANCE: HINDERED BY PRIVATE PLACEMENTS

The Fund's underperformance of its benchmark is attributable largely to its private holdings, some of which were negatively revalued (based on the underlying issuers' book values) during the period. On the positive side, factors that aided the Fund included its overweighting in Indonesia, which had a solid rally in the period.

THE MARKET: UP AND AWAY?

Over the past six months, emerging market telecoms, along with global equities generally, were subject to wide swings in investor sentiment related to the health of the U.S. economy, the performance of the nation's equity marketplace and the events leading up to and through the U.S.-led war with Iraq.

Setting the stage, in the first three months of this reporting period, emerging telecoms were the worst performing category in the emerging markets universe. Driving this underperformance, in part, were investor concerns about a possible contagion effect from developed world telecoms, particularly wireless companies, which experienced considerable volatility in the wake of proposed cuts in wireless interconnection fees, a major source of revenues for these companies.

Beyond this, emerging telecoms suffered from many of the same issues that have plagued most telecoms globally for the past several years: declining profits; increasing competition; weak pricing power; overcapacity; the cannibalization of voice communications from wireline to wireless/mobile; and the yet unrealized potential of 3G data-traffic services, demand for which remains weak years after developed telecoms paid enormous licensing fees to provide them.

In retrospect, however, these issues were subordinate to those emerging from the United States, notably the performance of the U.S. economy and equity market, and the war with Iraq.

We saw this with particular clarity during the second three months of this reporting period, when emerging telecoms outperformed the market as a whole and moved from the worst performing emerging markets category to one of the best. During this period, emerging telecom fundamentals did not change appreciably from the first quarter, when an anemic U.S. economy and a world divided by war served to undermine global equities as a whole. The only real difference between the first quarter and the second was the successful conclusion of the war with Iraq, some middling positive news about the U.S. economy and a sustained rally in U.S. equities. This latter development aided equities worldwide, particularly telecoms, which, with their more utility-like, defensive characteristics, were widely sought by investors.

Overall, we believe that the emerging telecom category is in better shape than many others in the emerging and developed equity markets. Most operators are generating free cash flow and have cleaned up their balance sheets, or are making progress in doing so.

Our focus has been and continues to be on those emerging telecoms that we feel have clear strategies on the deployment of capital, and thus are likely to pay increasing dividends, as opposed to those who do not, and thus are more likely to underperform.

In this regard, we presently favor South Korean operators, which are among the most advanced in the deployment of data transfer services. Additionally, competition there is mostly friendly in nature, serving to expand, rather than weaken, existing markets.

China is a different story, one in which two large wireless companies and one national wireline operator are locked in a harsh struggle for dominance of the wireless market. Here, we have elected to invest in a company in the wireline sector, one which enjoys high market share and the support of China's government.

Elsewhere in Asia, many operators are cash flow positive, and those we own either currently pay high dividends, or could begin to pay higher dividends soon.

In Latin America, we like Brazilian wireline operators over their wireless counterparts. The new administration there has supported the idea of higher tariffs for wireline companies, at the expense of wireless operators, which in any event are suffering from corrosive competition and market fragmentation.

In Mexico, the opposite is true. There we favor wireless companies that stand to benefit from strong growth, low penetration rates and an improving economy. In the rest of Latin America, we are keeping a close watch on mergers and acquisitions activity with an eye toward investing in stronger operators and their targets in other Latin American nations.

In Russia, we are invested in the wireless sector, where penetration rates are still very low. There, a few major operators could benefit from rising consumer purchasing power and long pent-up demand.

As for the remainder of the emerging markets, the story is much more fragmented and more company specific. Here, again, we are looking for good valuations and clear capital allocation strategies that could lead to near-term increases in dividend payouts.

OUTLOOK: VARIABLE, BUT MOSTLY POSITIVE

We believe that the road ahead will most likely resemble that of the recent past, with the fortunes of emerging and developed telecoms alike tied to the continuing recovery of the U.S. and global economies. In this regard, we look for the U.S. economy to grow during this year's second half and, hopefully, continue that trend in 2004, given plentiful liquidity and favorable fiscal policies there.

Thematically, we are closely monitoring re-regulation efforts in emerging markets, possible changes in tariffs that could favor either wireline or wireless operators, the effects of increasing competition and the allotment of 3G and 2.5G licenses in some markets.

If regulations are stiffer and interconnection fees paid by wireless operators to wireline operators are much higher than anticipated, investors may choose to exit the market, or sit on the sidelines, while these developments play out. This would probably cause the emerging telecom category to decouple from and underperform emerging markets, generally. The same might occur if the present movement to mandate the portability of mobile telephone numbers in the developed world spreads to the emerging markets. This would likely result in higher churn rates and greater costs for wireless operators, along with increasingly negative investor sentiment.

If, on the other hand, regulatory changes are milder, if the cost of networking equipment continues to fall, and if 3G platforms in Western Europe, the U.S. and Japan show signs of improvement, then emerging telecoms could decouple from and outperform the remainder of the emerging markets universe.

Over the near term, however, emerging telecoms could benefit from liquidity conscious investors looking for the higher dividend yields they provide over bond market alternatives.

In this environment, we will stay overweight in Asian telecoms, in light of their lower capital requirements, high dividends and greater operational transparency. In Latin America, we will continue to look for growth opportunities related to projected growth in wireless market share (Mexico) and anticipated growth in mergers and acquisitions activity throughout the region. Lastly, in Eastern Europe, Russia, the Middle East and Africa, we will focus on what we believe are attractively valued stocks of companies that our analysis suggests will likely increase future dividend payments to minority shareholders, such as ourselves.

Respectfully,

/s/ Yaroslaw Aranowicz

THE EMERGING MARKETS TELECOMMUNICATIONS FUND, INC.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (UNAUDITED)

NOTE A. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The Emerging Markets Telecommunications Fund, Inc. (the "Fund") is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, as a closed-end, non-diversified management investment company.

USE OF ESTIMATES: The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("GAAP") requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

SECURITY VALUATION: The net asset value of the Fund is determined daily as of the close of regular trading on The New York Stock Exchange, Inc. on each day the Exchange is open for business. The Fund's investments are valued at market value, which is generally determined using the closing price on the exchange or market on which the security is primarily traded. If no sales are reported, investments are generally valued at the most recent bid price. Debt securities with a remaining maturity greater than 60 days are valued on the basis of broker quotations or valuations provided by a pricing service which may use a matrix, formula or other objective method that takes into consideration market indices, yield curves and other specific adjustments. Debt obligations that will mature in 60 days or less are valued on the basis of amortized cost, which approximates market value, unless the Board of Directors determines that using this method would not reflect an investment's value.

Securities and other assets for which market quotations are not readily available are valued at fair value as determined in good faith by the Board of Directors under procedures established by the Board of Directors in the absence of readily ascertainable market values. At May 31, 2003, the Fund held 28.07% of its net assets in securities valued at fair value as determined in good faith by the Board of Directors with an aggregate cost of $29,315,922 and fair value of $18,014,807. Although these securities may be resold in privately negotiated transactions, the prices realized on such sales could differ from the price originally paid by the Fund or the current carrying values, and the difference could be material.

SHORT-TERM INVESTMENT: The Fund sweeps available cash into a short-term deposit issued by Brown Brothers Harriman & Co., the Fund's custodian. The short-term time deposit is a variable rate account classified as a short-term investment.

INVESTMENT TRANSACTIONS AND INVESTMENT INCOME: Investment transactions are accounted for on a trade date basis. The cost of investments sold is determined by use of the specific identification method for both financial reporting and income tax purposes. Interest income is accrued as earned; dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date.

TAXES: No provision is made for U.S. income or excise taxes as it is the Fund's intention to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company and to make the requisite distributions to its shareholders which will be sufficient to relieve it from all or substantially all U.S. income and excise taxes.

Income received by the Fund from sources within emerging countries and other foreign countries may be subject to withholding and other taxes imposed by such countries.

Under certain circumstances the Fund may be subject to a maximum of 36% Israeli capital gains tax on gains derived from the sale of certain Israeli investments. For the six months ended May 31, 2003, the Fund did not incur such expense.

The Fund is subject to a 10% Chilean repatriation tax with respect to certain remittances from Chile and on net unrealized gains on certain securities held in Chilean pesos. Realized capital gains on the most liquid stocks will not be subject to the tax. Realized capital gains on illiquid shares, interest and dividends received will continue to be subject to the remittance tax. For the six months ended May 31, 2003, the Fund did not incur such expense.

Brazil imposes a CONTRIBUCAO PROVISORIA SOBRE MOVIMENTACOES FINANCIERAS ("CPMF") tax that applies to foreign exchange transactions related to fixed-income instruments carried out by financial institutions. The tax rate of 0.38% is effective until the end of 2003, and will decline to 0.08% during 2004. For the six months ended May 31, 2003, the Fund did not incur such expense.

FOREIGN CURRENCY TRANSLATIONS: The books and records of the Fund are maintained in U.S. dollars. Foreign currency amounts are translated into U.S. dollars on the following basis:

- (I) market value of investment securities, assets and liabilities at the valuation date rate of exchange; and
- (II) purchases and sales of investment securities, income and expenses at the relevant rates of exchange prevailing on the respective dates of such transactions.

The Fund does not isolate that portion of gains and losses in investments in equity securities which is due to changes in the foreign exchange rates from that which is due to changes in market prices of equity securities. Accordingly, realized and unrealized foreign currency gains and losses with respect to such securities are included in the reported net realized and unrealized gains and losses on investment transaction balances.

The Fund reports certain foreign currency related transactions and foreign taxes withheld on security transactions as components of realized gains for financial reporting purposes, whereas such foreign currency related transactions are treated as ordinary income for U.S. income tax purposes.

Net unrealized currency gains or losses from valuing foreign currency denominated assets and liabilities at period end exchange rates are reflected as a component of net unrealized appreciation/(depreciation) in value of investments and translation of other assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies.

Net realized foreign exchange losses represent foreign exchange gains and losses from sales and maturities of debt securities, transactions in foreign currencies and forward foreign currency contracts, exchange gains or losses realized between the trade date and settlement date on security transactions, and the difference between the amounts of interest and dividends recorded on the Fund's books and the U.S. dollar equivalent of the amounts actually received.

SECURITIES LENDING: The market value of securities out on loan to brokers at May 31, 2003, was $7,025,688, for which the Fund has received cash as collateral of $7,200,307. Such cash collateral was reinvested into an overnight repurchase agreement with Bear, Stearns & Co. Inc., which was in turn collateralized by U.S. Treasuries and U.S. Government agency securities with a value of $7,382,926. Security loans are required at all times to have collateral at least equal to 102% of the market value of the securities on loan; however, in the event of default or bankruptcy by the other party to the agreement, realization and/or retention of the collateral may be subject to legal proceedings.

DISTRIBUTIONS OF INCOME AND GAINS: The Fund distributes at least annually to shareholders, substantially all of its net investment income and net realized short-term capital gains, if any. The Fund determines annually whether to distribute any net realized long-term capital gains in excess of net realized short-term capital losses, including capital loss carryovers, if any. An additional distribution may be made to the extent necessary to avoid the payment of a 4% U.S. federal excise tax. Dividends and distributions to shareholders are recorded by the Fund on the ex-dividend date.

The character of distributions made during the year from net investment income or net realized gains may differ from their ultimate characterization for U.S. income tax purposes due to U.S. generally accepted accounting principles/tax differences in the character of income and expense recognition.

PARTNERSHIP ACCOUNTING POLICY: The Fund records its pro-rata share of the income/(loss) and capital gains/(losses) allocated from the underlying partnerships and adjusts the cost of the underlying partnerships accordingly. These amounts are included in the Fund's Statement of Operations.

OTHER: Some countries require governmental approval for the repatriation of investment income, capital or the proceeds of sales of securities by foreign investors. In addition, if there is a deterioration in a country's balance of payments or for other reasons, a country may impose temporary restrictions on foreign capital remittances abroad. Amounts repatriated prior to the end of specified periods may be subject to taxes as imposed by a foreign country.

The emerging countries' securities markets are substantially smaller, less liquid and more volatile than the major securities markets in the United States. A high proportion of the securities of many companies in emerging countries may be held by a limited number of persons, which may limit the number of securities available for investment by the Fund. The limited liquidity of emerging country securities markets may also affect the Fund's ability to acquire or dispose of securities at the price and time it wishes to do so.

The Fund is sector concentrated and therefore invests a high percentage of its assets in the telecommunications sector. As a result, the financial, economic, business and political developments in a particular sector of the market, positive or negative, have a greater impact on the Fund's net asset value and will cause its shares to fluctuate more than if the Fund did not concentrate its investments in a particular sector. Under normal market conditions, it will invest not less than 80% of its net assets in a group of related industries within the telecommunications sector of the market.

The Fund, subject to local investment limitations, may invest up to 25% of its assets (at the time of commitment) in illiquid equity securities, including securities of private equity funds (whether in corporate or partnership form) that invest primarily in the emerging markets. When investing through another investment fund, the Fund will bear its proportionate share of the expenses incurred by that fund, including management fees. Such securities are expected to be illiquid which may involve a high degree of business and financial risk and may result in substantial losses. Because of the current absence of any liquid trading market for these investments, the Fund may take longer to liquidate these positions than would be the case for publicly traded securities. Although these securities may be resold in privately negotiated transactions, the prices realized on such sales could be substantially less than those originally paid by the Fund or the current carrying values and these differences could be material. Further, companies whose securities are not publicly traded may not be subject to the disclosures and other investor protection requirements applicable to companies whose securities are publicly traded.

The Fund may enter into repurchase agreements ("repos") on U.S. Government securities with primary government securities dealers recognized by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and member banks of the Federal Reserve System and on securities issued by the governments of foreign countries, their instrumentalities and with creditworthy parties in accordance with established procedures. Repos are contracts under which the buyer of a security simultaneously buys and commits to resell the security to the seller at an agreed upon price and date. Repos are deposited with the Fund's custodian and, pursuant to the terms of the repurchase agreement, the collateral must have an aggregate market value greater than or equal to the repurchase price plus accrued interest at all times. If the value of the underlying securities fall below the value of the repurchase price plus accrued interest, the Fund will require the seller to deposit additional collateral by the next business day. If the request for additional collateral is not met, or the seller defaults on its repurchase obligation, the Fund maintains the right to sell the underlying securities at market value and may claim any resulting loss against the seller; collectibility of such claims may be limited. At May 31, 2003, the Fund had no such agreements, other than the cash collateral received that was reinvested in a repo under the Fund's securities lending program.

NOTE B. AGREEMENTS

Credit Suisse Asset Management, LLC ("CSAM"), serves as the Fund's investment adviser with respect to all investments. CSAM receives as compensation for its advisory services from the Fund, an annual fee, calculated weekly and paid quarterly, equal to 1.25% of the first $100 million of the Fund's average weekly market value or net assets (whichever is lower), 1.125% of the next $100 million and 1.00% of amounts in excess of $200 million. For the six months ended May 31, 2003, CSAM earned $320,057 for advisory services. CSAM also provides certain administrative services to the Fund and is reimbursed by the Fund for costs incurred on behalf of the Fund (up to $20,000 per annum). For the six months ended May 31, 2003, CSAM was reimbursed $7,311 for administrative services rendered to the Fund.

Credit Suisse Asset Management (Australia) Limited ("Sub-Adviser") serves as the Fund's sub-investment adviser. CSAM currently pays the Sub-Adviser on a quarterly basis a fee of $480,000 per annum for services rendered with respect to the Fund and certain other Credit Suisse Funds for which the Sub-Adviser has been appointed as such.

Bear Stearns Funds Management Inc. ("BSFM") serves as the Fund's U.S. administrator. The Fund pays BSFM a monthly fee that is computed weekly at an annual rate of 0.12% of the Fund's average weekly net assets. For the six months ended May 31, 2003, BSFM earned $36,939 for administrative services.

Edgar Filing: EMERGING MARKETS TELECOMMUNICATIONS FUND INC/NEW - Form N-CSR

BankBoston, N.A., Sao Paulo ("BBNA") serves as the Fund's administrator with respect to Brazilian investments. BBNA is paid for its services out of the custody fee payable to Brown Brothers Harriman & Co., the Fund's accounting agent and custodian, a quarterly fee based on an annual rate of 0.10% of average month end Brazilian net assets of the Fund.

Merrill Corporation ("Merrill"), an affiliate of CSAM, has been engaged by the Fund to provide certain financial and tender related printing services. For the six months ended May 31, 2003, Merrill was paid $56,302 for its services to the Fund.

On May 8, 2000, the Fund's Board of Directors unanimously approved a proposal by the Independent Directors to partially compensate Independent Directors in shares of the Fund. Under this policy, such directors receive fifty percent (50%) of their annual retainer in the form of shares purchased by the Fund's transfer agent in the open market. Directors as a group own less than 1% of the Fund's outstanding shares.

NOTE C. CAPITAL STOCK

The authorized capital stock of the Fund is 100,000,000 shares of common stock, $0.001 par value. Of the 9,164,221 shares outstanding at May 31, 2003, CSAM owned 14,333 shares.

NOTE D. INVESTMENT IN SECURITIES

For the six months ended May 31, 2003 purchases and sales of securities, other than short-term investments, were $42,882,580 and $42,290,380, respectively.

NOTE E. CREDIT FACILITY

The Fund, together with other funds/portfolios advised by CSAM (collectively, the "Participating Funds"), participates in a $100 million committed, unsecured line of credit facility ("Credit Facility") with Deutsche Bank, A.G. as administrative agent and syndication agent and State Street Bank and Trust Company as operations agent for temporary or emergency purposes. Under the terms of the Credit Facility, the Participating Funds pay an aggregate commitment fee at a rate of 0.10% per annum on the average unused amount of the Credit Facility, which is allocated among the Participating Funds in such manner as is determined by the governing Boards of the Participating Funds. In addition, the Participating Funds pay interest on borrowings at the Federal Funds rate plus 0.50%. At May 31, 2003 and during the six months ended May 31, 2003, the Fund had no borrowings under the Credit Facility.

NOTE F. FEDERAL INCOME TAXES

Income and capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with federal income tax regulations, which may differ from GAAP. These differences are primarily due to differing treatments of foreign currency transactions, losses deferred due to wash sales and Post-October losses (as later defined), and excise tax regulations.

Under current tax law, certain capital losses realized after October 31 within a taxable year may be deferred and treated as occurring on the first day of the following tax year ("Post-October losses"). For the tax period ended November 30, 2002, the Fund incurred and elected to defer net realized losses of $95,167.

At November 30, 2002, the Fund had a capital loss carryforward for U.S. federal income tax purposes of $90,937,950 of which $20,972,304 expires in 2006. This amount is subject to Internal Revenue Sections limitations. Capital loss carryforward of $5,308,276, $47,300,891 and $17,356,479 expires in 2007, 2009 and 2010, respectively.

At May 31, 2003, the identified cost for federal income tax purposes, as well as the gross unrealized appreciation from investments for those securities having an excess of value over cost, gross unrealized depreciation from investments for those securities having an excess of cost over value and the net unrealized depreciation from investments were $73,358,249, $5,610,746, $(15,962,007) and $(10,351,261), respectively.

NOTE G. RESTRICTED SECURITIES

Certain of the Fund's investments are restricted as to resale and are valued at fair value as determined in good faith by the Board of Directors under procedures established by the Board of Directors in the absence of readily ascertainable market values. The table below shows the number of units/shares held, the acquisition dates, aggregate costs, fair value as of May 31, 2003, per unit/share of such securities and percent of net assets which the securities comprise.

NOTE H. SELF-TENDER OFFER

In June 2000, the Board of Directors of the Fund approved a self-tender program, the terms of which included the following: (i) commencing in 2001, the Fund will make a tender offer to acquire at least 15% of its outstanding shares during each calendar year of the program and (ii) the per share purchase price will be at least 95% of the Fund's net asset value per share. Pursuant to this program, in November 2002, the Fund completed a tender offer for 15% of its outstanding shares (1,617,215 shares) at a price of $6.53 per share.

The self-tender program is subject to change based on economic or market conditions or other factors. For example, a sustained reduction in the market discount at which the Fund's shares trade, a risk of material adverse tax consequences or a risk of the Fund becoming subject to delisting may lead the Board of Directors to conclude that it is appropriate to suspend the self-tender program. In addition, the self-tender program is likely to reduce the Fund's asset levels over time. Absent substantial appreciation in the Fund's portfolio or opportunities to raise additional funds, this could lead to higher expense ratios, the absence of reasonable diversification or investment opportunities or other factors that adversely affect the Fund and possibly the continued viability of the Fund as a closed-end fund. The Board will reevaluate the program from time to time in light of its effect on the Fund.

RESULTS OF ANNUAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS (UNAUDITED)

On March 27, 2003, the Annual Meeting of Shareholders of The Emerging Markets Telecommunications Fund, Inc. (the "Fund") was held and the following matter was voted upon:

- (1) To re-elect one director to the Board of Directors of the Fund.

NAME OF DIRECTOR -----	FOR -----	WITHHELD -----
George W. Landau	7,803,871	228,515

In addition to the director re-elected at the meeting, Enrique R. Arzac, James J. Cattano, William W. Priest, Jr. and Martin M. Torino continue to serve as directors of the Fund.

Effective May 21, 2003, Joseph D. Gallagher was appointed as Chairman of the Fund, Chief Executive Officer and President. Laurence R. Smith who previously held these positions has resigned from the Fund effective May 21, 2003.
