Certain Forward-Looking Statements

When included in this Current Report on Form 8-K, words like believes, belief, expects, plans, anticipates, intends, projects, estimates, might, would and similar expressions are intended to identify forward-looking statements as defined by the U.S. Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. These forward-looking statements involve a variety of risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from expected or historical results. Such factors include, among others: the demographic changes and general economic and business conditions, including the downturn in the homebuilding industry, liquidity issues of counterparties to the Company's contracts, and the decline in value in the global equity and fixed-income markets; the Company's ability to develop and sell or lease water and water rights and changes in the market price of water; business disruption due to natural disasters; the Company's concentration of water resources in a limited number of assets, primarily in Nevada and Arizona; the effects of competition or political opposition in the markets in which it operates; the changes in, or failure to comply with, existing governmental regulations, including environmental regulations; the ability to successfully acquire and integrate new businesses and assets; the volatile fluctuations in its insurance reserves; liability and other claims asserted against the Company; its ability to attract and retain qualified personnel; the availability and terms of capital; and various other matters, many of which are beyond the Company's control.

Because forward-looking statements are inherently subject to risks and uncertainties, some of which cannot be predicted or quantified, you should not rely on any forward-looking statement as a prediction of future events. The Company expressly disclaims any obligation or undertaking and it does not intend to release publicly any updates or changes in its expectations concerning the forward-looking statements included in this Current Report on Form 8-K or any changes in events, conditions or circumstances upon which any forward-looking statement may be based. Other risks and uncertainties are detailed from time to time in the Company's filings with the SEC, including those described under the heading Risk Factors in the Company's annual report, quarterly reports and other periodic reports.
