Rescission Offer

Under the terms and conditions described in this prospectus, we are offering to rescind (the Rescission Offer ) the previous purchase of units in the Dell Inc. Stock Fund (the Dell Stock Fund ) by persons who acquired such units (the Units ) through the Group Retirement Savings Plan for the Employees of Dell Canada Inc. and Deferred Profit Sharing Plan for Canadian Employees of Dell Canada Inc. (the Plans ) between March 31, 2006 and April 3, 2007 (the Purchase Period ). Each Unit represents an interest in shares of our common stock, par value U.S. $0.01 per share, plus a varying amount of short-term liquid investments.

The Rescission Offer applies to Units purchased during the Purchase Period at prices approximately ranging from CAN. $8.268 per Unit to CAN. $12.748 per Unit. Unless otherwise noted, all references to the numbers of Units and the prices per Unit in this prospectus have been retroactively adjusted to reflect a one-for-1.76 adjustment of Units effected in connection with the October 31, 2006, change of service provider of the Plans from Great West Life to The Manufacturers Life Insurance Company.

If you purchased Units pursuant to the Plans during the Purchase Period and accept the Rescission Offer, you will receive:

In the event you sold such Units at a loss, an amount equal to the excess of the amount you paid for such Units over the proceeds from your sale of the Units, plus interest.

In the event you currently hold such Units, upon your tender of such Units to us by accepting the Rescission Offer, the amount you paid for such Units, plus interest from the date of the purchase. However, we will not repurchase the Units if the amount you paid for the Units, plus interest, is less than the value of the Units on the date of expiration of this Rescission Offer, as it would not be economically beneficial to you.

Although this prospectus uses the term interest when describing the calculations of the Rescission Offer price, the term is only intended to describe the method used to calculate the payment amount, and the payment is not considered interest for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Instead, the entire amount will be considered as a payment for the sale of your Shares.

The Rescission Offer will expire at 3:00 p.m., U.S. Central Time, on September 26, 2008 (the Expiration Date ), which is 49 days from the date of this prospectus.

Our common stock is listed on The NASDAQ Stock Market under the trading symbol DELL. The last reported sale price of our common stock (as reported on The NASDAQ Stock Market) on August 7, 2008, was U.S. $24.99 per share. The value of a Unit on such date was CAN. $9.392. On such date, the noon exchange rate for one U.S. dollar, expressed in Canadian dollars, as quoted by the Bank of Canada, was U.S. $1.00 = CAN. $1.05. Our principal executive offices are located at One Dell Way, Round Rock, Texas 78682. Our telephone number is (512) 338-4400.

You may elect to accept the Rescission Offer by submitting a Rescission Offer Acceptance Form to us on or before the Expiration Date as set forth in this prospectus. You do not need to take any action to reject the Rescission Offer. If you fail to return the Rescission Offer Acceptance Form by the Expiration Date, you will be deemed by us to have rejected the Rescission Offer. Acceptance or rejection of the Rescission Offer may prevent you from maintaining any action against us based on a claim that we failed to register shares of our common stock represented by the Units purchased pursuant to the Plans during the Purchase Period. In any event, any such claim may be barred by applicable statutes of limitations. See Risk Factors Your right of rescission, if any, under U.S. federal law may not survive if you affirmatively reject or fail to accept the Rescission Offer on page 8.

Investing in Units, and in the shares of our common stock represented thereby, involves risks. See Risk Factors on page 8.

The shares of our common stock represented by the Units subject to the Rescission Offer may be deemed not to have been properly registered under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the Securities Act ), because we inadvertently failed to register our common stock with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the SEC ) for offer and sale to participants under the Plans. This prospectus is part of a Registration Statement on Form S-1 filed with the SEC to register these shares, regardless of whether or not you accept the Rescission Offer.

We believe that the sale of Units to the Plans in Canada and the related trades were properly made in reliance on exemptions from the prospectus and dealer registration requirements of applicable Canadian provincial securities laws, and that the availability of those exemptions is unaffected by the U.S. federal securities law considerations described above.

Neither the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission nor any Canadian securities regulatory authority has approved or disapproved of these securities or passed upon the adequacy or accuracy of this prospectus. Any representation to the contrary is a criminal offense.

The date of this prospectus is August 8, 2008

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT THE RESCISSION OFFER

The following questions and answers are intended to address briefly some commonly asked questions regarding the Rescission Offer. These questions and answers do not address all questions that may be important to you as a participant in the Plans who acquired Units between March 31, 2006, and April 3, 2007. Please refer to The Rescission Offer beginning on page 10 and the more detailed information contained elsewhere in this prospectus and the documents incorporated by reference into this prospectus, which you should read carefully.

Q: Why are you making the Rescission Offer?

A: Plan participants can purchase Units, which include indirect interests in Dell common stock, through the Plans. The Manufacturers Life Insurance Company, the service provider of the Plans (the Service Provider or ManuLife ), holds the Plans shares of Dell common stock in the Dell Common Stock Fund, and participants in the Plans who invest in Units have an indirect interest in those shares through their Unit investment. Although the shares of Dell common stock held by the Service Provider are purchased in the open market by the Service Provider, the SEC takes the position that the participants investments in Units are investments in the shares of Dell common stock and that we are required to register the deemed sale of these shares to participants in the Plans with the SEC. We have discovered that we inadvertently failed to register our common stock with the SEC for sale to participants in the Plans.

We are making the Rescission Offer with respect to 65,714 Units sold pursuant to the Plans from March 31, 2006, through April 3, 2007. We are making the Rescission Offer to ensure compliance with the Securities Act and to limit any contingent liability we may have as a result of possible noncompliance with applicable U.S. federal registration requirements in connection with the purchase of Units by participants in the Plans. We believe that the statute of limitations period applicable to potential claims for rescission under the Securities Act is one year. Accordingly, in determining the Purchase Period, we selected a date after which no unregistered sales of Units were made under the Plans as the ending date of the Purchase Period, and a date that is twelve months earlier (rounded to the preceding calendar month end) as the beginning date of the Purchase Period. We believe that the sale of Units to the Plans in Canada and the related trades were properly made in reliance on exemptions from the prospectus and dealer registration requirements of applicable Canadian provincial securities laws, and that the availability of those exemptions is unaffected by the U.S. federal securities law considerations described above.

Q: What will I receive if I accept the Rescission Offer?

A: The answer to this question depends on whether you still hold the Units purchased pursuant to the Plans during the Purchase Period:

If you have sold such Units at a loss, we will pay you an amount equal to the amount of the loss, plus interest at a rate of 5.27% per year. Interest will be paid on the amount you originally paid for the Units during the period from the date of your purchase of the Units through the date of your sale of the Units and on the loss you realized from your sale of the Units from the date of your sale through the date that payment is made by us.

If you currently hold such Units, we will repurchase such Units for the amount you paid for such Units, plus interest at a rate of 5.27% per year from the date you purchased the Units through the date that payment is made by us. However, we will not repurchase the Units if the amount you paid for the Units, plus interest (to the Expiration Date), is less than the value of the Units as of the Expiration Date, as it would not be economically beneficial to you.

Table of Contents

Q: When and how will I receive payment for my Units if I properly accept the Rescission Offer?

A: If we receive a legible, properly completed Rescission Offer Acceptance Form from you on or before 3:00 p.m., U.S. Central Time, on the Expiration Date and we determine that you are eligible to accept the Rescission Offer, we expect that within 5-10 business days after the Expiration Date:

If you still have an account for the Plans and are an active employee of Dell Canada, all proceeds to which you are entitled by accepting the Rescission Offer will be credited to your account for the Plans in accordance with your current investment elections for new contributions to the Plans. If you have separate investment elections on file for both employee and employer contributions, your proceeds will be invested in accordance with your investment elections for employer contributions.

If you have an account for the Plans but are not an active employee of Dell Canada or do not have current investment elections on file, all proceeds to which you are entitled by accepting the Rescission Offer will be credited to your account and invested in a daily interest account.

If you are no longer an active employee of Dell but previously had an account with ManuLife for the Plans, your account will be reactivated and all proceeds to which you are entitled by accepting the Rescission Offer will be credited to your account and invested in a daily interest account. If you are no longer an active employee of Dell and did not have an account with ManuLife for the Plans, you will be required to enroll with ManuLife to establish an account. You will receive additional details from Dell on how to open an account via separate communication. Proceeds to which you are entitled by accepting the Rescission Offer will be credited to your account and invested in a daily interest account. Distributions from your account for the Plans will be managed in accordance with the terms of the Plans as follows:

For balances less than CAN. $1,000, a cheque will be sent to you from Manulife Financial.

For balances over CAN. $1,000, you may:

1. Withdraw all your funds from your Registered Retirement Savings Plan (RRSP) as cash. You should carefully consider the tax consequences of selecting this option, as all cash withdrawals are considered taxable income in the year of the withdrawal.
2. Transfer your funds to a Universal RSP account with Manulife Financial. This transfer takes place free of tax.
3. Transfer your funds into a new RSP account or to one you have previously established at another financial institution. This transfer takes place free of tax.

To make any of the above elections, contact Manulife Financial toll free at 1-888-727-7766.

Proceeds will be disbursed to your account for the Plans within 5-10 business days following the Expiration Date.

We strongly encourage you to review the Plan Summary Plan Descriptions which contains additional information on distribution of account balances. To obtain a copy of the Plan Summary Plan Descriptions, go to the Dell intranet or contact Manulife Financial toll free at 1-888-727-7766. Payment of proceeds directly to you may result in adverse tax consequences. You are urged to review the disclosure appearing under Certain Canadian Federal Income Tax Considerations and to consult with your own tax advisor regarding the specific consequences to you of the Rescission Offer, including provincial and other tax consequences.

Q: What interest rate will be used in calculating any amounts owed to me?

A: We will use an annual interest rate of 5.27%, which is calculated on the basis of the highest weekly average 1-year constant maturity U.S. Treasury yield in effect at any time during the Purchase Period.

Q: Does it matter whether I purchased Units through employee basic, employee voluntary, lump sum deposits, company contributions or transfers between investment funds?

A: No. All purchases of Units made pursuant to the Plans during the Purchase Period will be considered when determining whether you are eligible to accept the Rescission Offer.

Q: Am I required to accept the Rescission Offer?

A: No. You are not required to accept the Rescission Offer. Your decision to accept or reject the Rescission Offer is completely voluntary. If you are an employee of Dell Canada, acceptance or rejection of the Rescission Offer will not have any bearing or effect on your employment status.

Q: Should I accept the Rescission Offer?

A: You must make your own decision whether to accept the Rescission Offer. In general, it may be economically beneficial to you to accept the Rescission Offer if:

you sold Units you purchased during the Purchase Period for less than you paid for them, or you now hold Units you purchased during the Purchase Period that on the Expiration Date will be worth less than the Rescission Offer price for such Units (i.e., the price you paid for the Units, plus interest).

However, in making your decision whether to accept the Rescission Offer, you should consider all relevant factors in light of your particular circumstances, including the potential tax consequences of accepting the Rescission Offer (see Certain Canadian Federal Income Tax Considerations ) and, if you now hold Units you purchased during the Purchase Period, the possibility that the value of such Units may increase or decrease after the Expiration Date.

You should note, however, that under the terms of the Rescission Offer, we will not repurchase any Units unless our records indicate that (1) you sold Units you purchased during the Purchase Period for less than you paid for them and/or (2) you now hold Units you purchased during the Purchase Period that on the Expiration Date are worth less than the Rescission Offer price. Consequently, if you are unsure whether you sold Units at a loss or you are unsure whether Units you have continued to hold are likely to have a value on the Expiration Date less than the Rescission Offer purchase price, you may accept the Rescission Offer by signing and returning the Rescission Offer Acceptance Form that accompanies this Prospectus, and we will determine whether the criteria for the repurchase of your Units described above are satisfied. Unless these criteria are satisfied, we will not repurchase your Units pursuant to the Rescission Offer.

In applying those criteria, we will use a first-in, first-out, or FIFO, principle in determining whether Units were sold at a loss and whether you now hold Units eligible for repurchase pursuant to the Rescission Offer. You should apply the same principle in determining whether or not to accept the Rescission Offer. Please note that, in applying the FIFO principle, it will be necessary for you to adjust the number of Units purchased or sold prior to the one-for-1.76 adjustment of Units effected on October 31, 2006, when the Service Provider of the Plans was changed. An example calculation using the FIFO principle including an example of the effect of the Unit adjustment, is set forth in the Rescission Offer Acceptance Form that accompanies this prospectus.

WE URGE YOU TO REVIEW THIS PROSPECTUS CAREFULLY BEFORE DECIDING WHETHER TO ACCEPT OR REJECT THE RESCISSION OFFER.

If you have questions about the Rescission Offer acceptance process, you can call the Dell Inc. Rescission Offer Call Center by dialing your country's international long distance access code followed by 877-888-4601, Monday through Friday between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m., U.S. Central Time.

Q: Where can I find information about my purchases and sales of Units?

A: For detailed information about your purchases of Units and any subsequent sales of such Units from March 31, 2006 to November 6, 2006, please contact the HRSC at 1-866-203-5514 to request a hard copy statement of your account with Great West Life. For detailed information about your purchases of Units and any subsequent sales of such Units from November 6, 2006 to April 3, 2007, you can access your on-line account at www.manulife.ca/gro. If you no longer have an account for the Plans, you may call Manulife Financial toll free at 1-888-727-7766 to review your transaction history.

The value of a Unit on August 7, 2008, was CAN. $9.392. To obtain the current value of a Unit during the period the Rescission Offer is open and prior to the Expiration Date, you can access your online account by following the procedures listed above or you can call Manulife Financial toll free at 1-888-727-7766.

Q: Will the Rescission Offer affect my ability to direct transactions in my account?

A: Yes. In order to ensure smooth processing of the Rescission Offer, all transactions relating to your account for the Plans, will be temporarily suspended on the Expiration Date whether or not you accept the Rescission Offer and whether or not we repurchase your Units. This temporary suspension is called a blackout period. As a result, you will be subject to the risk that due to events in the securities markets, the value of your account for the Plans could significantly decline during this period and you would not be able to transfer funds in and out of the Plans investment options, including the Dell Stock Fund, to avoid this result. For more information about the blackout period, see Notice of Blackout Period. The blackout period will commence at 3:00 p.m., U.S. Central Time, on the Expiration Date, September 26, 2008, and we presently anticipate it will end on 11:59 pm on October 1, 2008.

Q: What is the effect of the Rescission Offer on my ability to assert claims?

A: The rights remaining to the recipients of a rescission offer are not clearly delineated under the U.S. federal securities laws. The staff of the SEC takes the position that a person's U.S. federal right of rescission may survive a rescission offer. You may also want to consult your own advisors as to the claims, if any, you may have under Canadian law, and whether any such claims would be affected by your acceptance of the Rescission Offer.

For a more detailed description of the effect of the Rescission Offer on any applicable U.S. federal securities law claims, see Risk Factors The Rescission Offer may not bar claims relating to our non-compliance with securities laws, and we may continue to be contingently liable for rescission or damages in an indeterminate amount and Risk Factors Your right of rescission, if any, under U.S. federal law may not survive if you affirmatively reject or fail to accept the Rescission Offer.

Q: May I accept the Rescission Offer in part?

A: No. If you accept the Rescission Offer, then you must accept it for all Units that were purchased during the Purchase Period that you still hold as well as all Units that you purchased during the Purchase Period that were sold at a loss. As described above, however, if you accept the Rescission Offer, we will only repurchase those Units that, as of the Expiration Date, have a value less than the price you paid for the Units, plus interest (to the Expiration Date).

If you do not accept the Rescission Offer in full, you will retain ownership of all of your Units and will not receive any payment for the Units subject to the Rescission Offer.

Q: What happens if I accept the Rescission Offer for Units that I currently hold in my account but the amount I would receive for the Units is less than the value of the Units on the Expiration Date?

A: If you submit a Rescission Offer Acceptance Form, we will not repurchase those Units for which the price per Unit that you paid, plus interest (to the Expiration Date), is less than the value of a Unit as of the Expiration Date. Accordingly, those Units will remain in your account for the Plans.

Q: When does the Rescission Offer expire?

A: The Rescission Offer expires at 3:00 p.m., U.S. Central Time, on September 26, 2008, which is 49 days from the date of this prospectus.

RISK FACTORS

An investment in our common stock involves risks. You should carefully consider the following risk factors relating to the Rescission Offer in addition to the risks identified in Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements above and the risks identified in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended February 1, 2008, including those risks identified under the caption Risk Factors in our Annual Report on Form 10-K. Please see Where You Can Find More Information on page 17.

The Rescission Offer may not bar claims relating to our possible non-compliance with U.S. securities laws, and we may continue to be contingently liable for rescission or damages in an indeterminate amount.

It is not certain that the Rescission Offer will have the effect of barring claims relating to our possible non-compliance with applicable U.S. federal securities laws. If a person accepts the Rescission Offer, we believe our potential liability to that person will be eliminated. Should the Rescission Offer be rejected, we may continue to be contingently liable for rescission or damages, which could result in an adverse effect on our results of operations and financial condition. In addition, the Rescission Offer will not prevent regulators from pursuing enforcement actions or imposing penalties and fines against us with respect to any violations of securities laws. In any event, we do not expect the Rescission Offer to have a material impact on our financial condition or liquidity.

Your right of rescission, if any, under U.S. federal law may not survive if you affirmatively reject or fail to accept the Rescission Offer.

The rights remaining to the recipients of a rescission offer are not clearly delineated under U.S. federal securities laws. If you affirmatively reject or fail to accept the Rescission Offer, it is unclear whether your U.S. federal right of rescission, if any, will be preserved. The staff of the SEC takes the position that a person's U.S. federal right of rescission may survive a rescission offer. However, the few U.S. federal courts that have addressed this issue in the past have suggested that, at least in certain circumstances, a person who rejects or fails to accept a rescission offer may be precluded from later seeking similar relief. We may assert, among other defenses, in any litigation initiated by a person eligible to participate in the Rescission Offer who accepts or rejects the Rescission Offer, that such person is stopped from asserting such claims as a result of the Rescission Offer.

Generally, the statute of limitations for enforcement of U.S. federal statutory rescission rights by a security holder is one year commencing on the date of the sale of the security sold in violation of the U.S. federal registration requirements, but in no event later than three years after the security was bona fide offered to the public. The Company believes that the one-year U.S. federal statute of limitations on sales of shares of our common stock represented by the Units has expired and that participants in the Plans now have no federal rescission rights. Our Rescission Offer is not an admission that we did not comply with any U.S. federal registration or disclosure requirements nor is it a waiver by us of any applicable statute of limitations or any potential defense we may have. Determining when a statute of limitations expires under U.S. federal law can be a difficult issue, and you should consult with an attorney if you have any questions regarding how U.S. federal statutes of limitations may apply to any claims you have.

We believe that the sale of Units to the Plans in Canada and the related trades were properly made in reliance on exemptions from the prospectus and dealer registration requirements of applicable Canadian provincial securities laws, and that the availability of those exemptions is unaffected by the U.S. federal securities laws considerations described above. You may also want to consult your own advisors as to the claims, if any, you may have under Canadian law, and whether any such claims would be affected by your acceptance of the Rescission Offer.

You will not be permitted to conduct any transactions within your account for the Plans for a period of time following the Expiration Date.

Because you will not be permitted to conduct any transactions with respect to your account for the Plans during this period, you will be subject to the risk that due to events in the securities markets, the value of your account could significantly decline during this period and you would not be able to make transfers to avoid or mitigate this result. In addition, any proceeds you receive for the sale of Units in the Rescission Offer will not be deposited into your account for the Plans for up to 5-10 business days following the Expiration Date. If you still have an account for the Plans and are an active employee of Dell, these proceeds will be allocated to your account in accordance with your current investment elections for new contributions to the Plans. If you have separate investment elections on file for both employee and employer contributions, your proceeds will be invested in accordance with your investment elections for employer contributions. If you are not an active employee of Dell or do not have current elections on file these funds will be credited to your account for the Plans and invested in a daily interest account. In all cases, you will be subject to the risk that the purchase price of the applicable investment could increase in value prior to the reinvestment of proceeds in your account, resulting in a higher unit cost for such investment. See Notice of Blackout Period for additional information.

You need to consider certain tax Canadian Federal Income Tax risk factors.

If you accept the Rescission Offer, payments made pursuant to the Rescission Offer to a Plan account or a new Plan account, as the case may be, in respect of Units previously sold at a loss may be considered to be income to you or may be considered to be a contribution to the Plan for Canadian federal income tax purposes.

As described in Certain Canadian Federal Income Tax Considerations - Acceptance of Rescission Offer, payments made pursuant to the acceptance of the Rescission Offer to a Plan account or a new Plan account, as the case may be, in respect of Units previously sold at a loss may be considered to be income to the plan participant or a contribution to the Plan for Canadian federal income tax purposes. However, Canada Revenue Agency's (CRA) administrative practice with respect to payments in similar circumstances provides for a more favourable result. CRA's administrative practice generally is that the payment of damages on account of losses sustained by a registered retirement savings plan or other registered deferred income plan is not considered to be income to the plan annuitant and is not considered to be a contribution to the plan for tax purposes if the payment is made directly to the plan. Furthermore, this administrative practice applies where the damages are paid to a new or successor plan in circumstances where the plan that suffered the loss no longer exists, has matured or has been converted into another type of plan. In certain private rulings, the CRA has applied this administrative practice in respect of the payment of damages directly to a registered retirement savings plan in respect of losses sustained by the plan. CRA treats private rulings as binding upon it only in respect of the particular transaction and taxpayers ruled upon. No ruling has been sought or obtained with respect to the Rescission Offer. Although CRA's administrative practice is not directly on point, payments made pursuant to the acceptance of the Rescission Offer to a Plan account or new Plan account, as the case may be, in respect of Units previously sold at a loss, may be considered to be similar to the payment of damages to which CRA's administrative practice applies and this suggests that such practice may also be applicable to payments made pursuant to the acceptance of the Rescission Offer such that there would be no Canadian federal income tax consequences to the Plan participant or the Plan. However, CRA is not bound to apply such administrative practice, and no assurance can be given that such administrative practice would be extended and applied to payments made pursuant to the acceptance of the Rescission Offer.

THE RESCISSION OFFER

Background and Reasons for the Rescission Offer

The purpose of the Plans is to provide a voluntary, systematic method for participants to save a specified percentage of the participant's compensation for retirement and to defer Canadian federal and provincial income tax on such compensation. ManuLife is the Service Provider of the Plans.

Amounts in participants' accounts are held in a trust fund maintained for the benefit of participants in the Plans. There are currently 17 investment funds available to participants under the Plans. All contributions to a participant's account for the Plans are invested in accordance with his or her investment elections.

One of the investment choices in the Plans has been the Dell Stock Fund, which, prior to April 3, 2007, gave participants the opportunity to invest some or all of the amounts deposited in their account for the Plans in Units principally comprised of Dell common stock. A participant's investment in the Dell Stock Fund is measured in Units. Each Unit represents an interest in shares of our common stock plus a varying amount of short-term liquid investments. To effectuate purchases and sales of Units by participants, the Service Provider or one of its affiliates from time to time purchased and sold our common stock in the open market at market prices. Effective as of April 3, 2007, the Plans no longer permit purchases of Units in the Dell Stock Fund, but participants continue to be permitted to hold and sell investments in Units.

Prior to April 3, 2007, Plan participants could purchase Units, which include indirect interests in Dell common stock, through the Plans. The Service Provider holds the Plans' shares of Dell common stock in the Dell Common Stock Fund, and participants in the Plans who invest in Units have an indirect interest in those shares through their Unit investment. Although the shares of Dell common stock held by the Service Provider were purchased in the open market by the Service Provider, the SEC takes the position that the participants' investments in Units are investments in the shares of Dell common stock and that we are required to register the deemed sale of these shares to participants in the Plans with the SEC. In the Spring of 2007, it appeared that the on-going Audit Committee investigation would prevent us from timely filing our annual report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year 2007. As a result, we began planning for a suspension of participant investments in the Dell Common Stock Fund under the Plans. In the process of planning for the suspension, we discovered that investments in the Dell Common Stock Fund under the Plans had not been registered on Form S-8. Our inadvertent failure to register with the SEC the sale of shares of our common stock under the Plans may have constituted a violation of Section 5 of the Securities Act (which generally requires registration of offers and sales of securities) and may give rise to liability under Section 12 of the Securities Act (which generally provides a rescission remedy for offers and sales of securities in violation of Section 5).

We are making the Rescission Offer with respect to 65,714 Units sold pursuant to the Plans from March 31, 2006, through April 3, 2007. We are making the Rescission Offer to ensure compliance with the Securities Act and to limit any contingent liability we may have as a result of possible noncompliance with applicable U.S. federal registration requirements in connection with the purchase of Units by participants in the Plans. We believe that the sale of Units to the Plans in Canada and the related trades were properly made in reliance on exemptions from the prospectus and dealer registration requirements of applicable Canadian provincial securities laws, and that the availability of those exemptions is unaffected by the U.S. federal securities law considerations described above.

Effect of the Rescission Offer

If you reject, fail to timely accept, or fail to accept in full, the Rescission Offer by 3:00 p.m., U.S. Central Time, on the Expiration Date, or if you accept the Rescission Offer but we determine that you are not eligible to accept the Rescission Offer under the terms set forth in this prospectus, you will retain ownership of the Units and will not receive any payment for the Units subject to the Rescission Offer. In addition, the shares of common stock included in the Units that you now own that are subject to the Rescission Offer, for purposes of applicable U.S. federal securities law, will be registered securities as of the date of this prospectus.

Your acceptance of the Rescission Offer may preclude you from later seeking similar relief, if any is available. For U.S. federal securities law purposes, rejection or the failure to accept a rescission offer may not terminate an offeree's right to bring a civil action against the offeror for failure to register securities under the Securities Act before expiration of the applicable statute of limitations. The staff of the SEC takes the position that a person's U.S. federal right of rescission may survive a rescission offer. However, the few U.S. federal courts that have addressed this issue in the past have suggested that, at least in certain circumstances, a person who rejects or fails to accept a rescission offer may be precluded from later seeking similar relief. The above discussion relates primarily to your potential rescission rights and does not address the antifraud provisions of U.S. federal securities laws or rights under common law or equity.

Generally, the U.S. federal statute of limitations for enforcement of such statutory rights by a security holder is one year commencing on the date of the sale of the security sold in violation of the U.S. federal registration requirements, but in no event later than three years after the security was bona fide offered to the public. The Company believes that the one-year U.S. federal statute of limitations on sales of shares of our common stock represented by the Units has expired and that participants in the Plans now have no U.S. federal rescission rights. Our Rescission Offer is not an admission that we did not comply with any U.S. federal registration or disclosure requirement nor is it a waiver by us of any applicable statute of limitations or any potential defense we may have. Determining when a statute of limitations expires under U.S. federal law can be a difficult issue, and you should consult with an attorney if you have any questions regarding how U.S. federal statutes of limitations may apply to any claims you have or regarding any of your legal rights and remedies before deciding whether or not to accept the Rescission Offer.

We believe that the sale of Units to the Plans in Canada and the related trades were properly made in reliance on exemptions from the prospectus and dealer registration requirements of applicable Canadian provincial securities laws, and that the availability of those exemptions is unaffected by the U.S. federal securities considerations described above. You may also want to consult your own advisors as to the claims, if any, you may have under Canadian law, and whether any such claims would be affected by your acceptance of the Rescission Offer.

Terms of the Rescission Offer

If you purchased Units through the Plans during the Purchase Period and have already sold such Units at a loss, you may accept the Rescission Offer, in which case you will receive an amount equal to the amount you paid for the Units less the proceeds of the sale of the Units, plus interest at a rate of 5.27% per year. Interest will be paid on the amount originally paid for the Units from the date you purchased the Units through the date you sold the Units. Interest will also be paid on the loss realized from your sale of the Units from the date of such sale through the date that payment is made by us.

If you currently hold Units purchased through the Plans during the Purchase Period, you may accept the Rescission Offer, in which case the Service Provider will sell the shares included in the Units and credit your account for the Plans with the amount you paid for the Units, plus interest at a rate of 5.27% per year for the period from the date you purchased the Units to the date payment is made by us. However, we will not repurchase any Unit if the price you paid for the Unit plus interest (to the Expiration Date) is less than the value of the Unit as of the Expiration Date, as it would not be economically beneficial to you.

Units are deemed sold in the order in which you purchased them. In order to determine which Units acquired during the Purchase Period are eligible for repurchase and which, if any, Units so acquired were sold at a loss, all Units acquired on your behalf pursuant to the Plans will be matched against all sales of Units during or after the Purchase Period by matching the first Unit acquired with the first Unit sold. This principle, commonly called first-in, first-out, or FIFO, will be used by Dell in determining which Units you sold at a loss and which Units you now hold are eligible for repurchase and should be used by you to help determine whether or not you wish to accept the Rescission Offer. In applying the FIFO principle, it will be necessary for you to adjust the number of Units purchased or sold prior to the one-for-1.76 adjustment of Units effected on October 31, 2006, when the Service Provider of the Plans was changed. An example of the application of the FIFO principle, including an example of the effect of the unit adjustment, is set forth in the Rescission Offer Acceptance Form that accompanies this Prospectus.

Because this Rescission Offer is being made, in part, to limit any contingent liability that we may have as a result of possible noncompliance with applicable U.S. federal registration requirements, the Company believes that it is appropriate to use a U.S. federal reference rate of interest to determine the interest rate to be applied in this Rescission Offer. U.S. federal law does not provide a specific rate of interest to be used in rescission offers. However, we have determined that an appropriate interest rate to be applied in this Rescission Offer is the weekly average 1-year constant maturity U.S. Treasury yield ( CMT ), as published by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. We have selected the CMT rate in effect on both June 30, 2006, and July 7, 2006 (5.27%), because it represents the highest CMT rate in effect for any calendar week during the Purchase Period and is significantly higher than the CMT rate in effect on the date of this prospectus. Consequently, we will apply an annual rate of interest of 5.27% to all interest rate calculations used in this Rescission Offer.

The Rescission Offer will expire at 3:00 p.m., U.S. Central Time, on September 26, 2008, which is 49 days from the date of this prospectus. If we receive a legible and properly completed Rescission Offer Acceptance Form from you on or before the deadline specified in the preceding sentence, and we determine that you are eligible to accept the Rescission Offer, we expect any proceeds to which you are entitled will be credited to your account for the Plans, or an account for the Plans established for you, within 5-10 business days following the Expiration Date.

If you still have an account for the Plans and are an active employee of Dell Canada, we will credit all proceeds resulting from acceptance of the Rescission Offer to your account in accordance with your current investment elections for new contributions to the Plans. If you have separate investment elections on file for both employee and employer contributions, your proceeds will be invested in accordance with your investment elections for employer contributions. If you still have an account for the Plans, but you are not an active employee of Dell Canada or do not have current investment elections on file, all proceeds resulting from acceptance of the Rescission Offer will be credited to your account for the Plans and invested in a daily interest account. If you no longer have an account for the Plans, an account will be established for you and all proceeds payable to you under this Rescission Offer will be invested in a daily interest account. The Plans' distribution rules vary based on your personal circumstances such as your account balance, and employment status. As a result, you should review the Plan Summary Plan Descriptions and the Questions and Answers About the Rescission Offer located in this Prospectus for more information on your distribution options. Payment of proceeds directly to you may result in adverse tax consequences. You are urged to review the disclosure appearing under Certain Canadian Federal Income Tax Considerations and to consult with your own tax advisor regarding the specific consequences to you of the Rescission Offer, including provincial and other tax consequences.

CERTAIN CANADIAN SECURITIES LAW CONSIDERATIONS

We are making the Rescission Offer in accordance with U.S. law, for the reasons described under "The Rescission Offer Background and Reasons for the Rescission Offer." We are not required to make the Rescission Offer under applicable Canadian provincial securities laws; however, the Rescission Offer would be considered an issuer bid under those laws. Generally, an issuer bid made in Canada must be made to all holders of the class of affected shares, and is subject to detailed procedural and documentation requirements under applicable provincial securities laws. We are applying to the provincial securities regulatory authorities in each of the jurisdictions where Dell Canada's employees are resident for a decision that will exempt us from the Canadian rules that apply to issuer bids. We expect that this decision will require us to comply with the rules applicable to the Rescission Offer in the United States, and will further require us to provide Canadian residents with information about the Rescission Offer that is substantially equivalent to the information that is provided to U.S. residents, including this prospectus, which has been filed with the SEC. However, Canadian residents to whom the Rescission Offer is extended will not have the benefit of the same disclosure materials and statutory rights and protection that may be available in connection with an issuer bid made in accordance with applicable provincial securities laws. The commencement of the Rescission Offer in Canada will be conditional upon the receipt of this decision from the relevant provincial securities regulatory authorities.

This prospectus has been filed with the SEC, but has not been and is not required to be filed with any securities regulatory authority in Canada. Neither the SEC nor any securities regulatory authority in Canada has approved or disapproved of the Rescission Offer or passed upon the adequacy or accuracy of this prospectus. Any representation to the contrary is a criminal offense.

CERTAIN CANADIAN FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSIDERATIONS

The following summary fairly describes the principal Canadian federal income tax considerations under the Income Tax Act (Canada) (the "Tax Act") and the regulations thereunder generally applicable in respect of the acceptance or rejection of the Rescission Offer by plan participants who are individuals, who acquired Units through the Plans during the Purchase Period and who, for purposes of the Tax Act, are resident in Canada, deal at arm's length and are not affiliated with Dell ("Plan Participants").

This summary is based on the current provisions of the Tax Act, the regulations thereunder and the Company's understanding of the current administrative policies and practices of the CRA published in writing prior to the date hereof and takes into account all specific proposals to amend the Tax Act and the regulations thereunder publicly announced by or on behalf of the Minister of Finance (Canada) prior to the date hereof. This summary does not take into account or anticipate any other changes in law or administrative policies or practices, whether by judicial, governmental or legislative action or decision, nor does it take into account provincial, territorial or foreign income tax legislation or considerations.

This summary is of a general nature only and is not intended to be, and should not be construed to be, legal or tax advice to any particular Plan Participant. Plan Participants should consult their own tax advisors as to the tax consequences to them in their particular circumstances. Residents of or persons subject to taxation in other countries are urged to seek advice from independent tax counsel in those countries, since the tax laws of those countries may differ substantially from those of Canada.

Acceptance of Rescission Offer

There will be no Canadian federal income tax consequences to the Plan Participant or the Plan where Units held in a Plan account are repurchased by Dell pursuant to the acceptance of the Rescission Offer by a Plan Participant. However, withdrawals of amounts from the Plan account generally are taxable to the Plan Participant.

The Canadian federal income tax consequences of payments made pursuant to the acceptance of the Rescission Offer to a Plan account or a new Plan account in respect of Units previously sold at a loss are unclear. Such payments may be considered to be income from employment to a Plan Participant or may be considered to be a contribution to the Plan. However, CRA's administrative practice with respect to payments in similar circumstances provides for a more favourable result. CRA's administrative practice generally is that the payment of damages on account of losses sustained by a registered retirement savings plan or other registered deferred income plan is not considered to be income to the plan annuitant and is not considered to be a contribution to the plan for tax purposes if the payment is made directly to the plan. Furthermore, this administrative practice applies where the damages are paid to a new or successor plan in circumstances where the plan that suffered the loss no longer exists, has matured or has been converted into another type of plan. Although CRA's administrative practice is not directly on point, payments made pursuant to the acceptance of the Rescission Offer to a Plan account or a new Plan account, as the case may be, in respect of Units previously sold at a loss may be considered to be similar to a payment of damages, and this suggests that CRA's administrative practice applicable to a payment of damages may be applicable to payments made pursuant to the acceptance of the Rescission Offer. Accordingly, based on CRA's administrative practice, there should be no Canadian federal income tax consequences to the Plan Participant or the Plan where amounts are deposited to the Plan account or a new Plan account, as the case may be, pursuant to the Rescission Offer in respect of Units previously sold at a loss. However, no assurance can be given that CRA would extend its administrative practice applicable to the payment of damages to payments made pursuant to the acceptance of the Rescission Offer. Withdrawals of such amounts from the Plan account generally are taxable to the Plan Participant.

Rejection of Rescission Offer

There will be no Canadian federal income tax consequences to Plan Participants or the Plans as a result of the rejection of the Rescission Offer in accordance with the terms of this Prospectus.

USE OF PROCEEDS

We will receive no proceeds from the Rescission Offer.

NOTICE OF BLACKOUT PERIOD

This notice is intended to inform participants (and beneficiaries) of the Plans of a blackout period during which their right to direct or diversify their investments under the Plans will be temporarily suspended.

All transactions related to your account will be temporarily suspended on the Expiration Date. The temporary suspension is called a blackout period and applies whether or not you accept the Rescission Offer. The blackout period will begin at 3:00 p.m., U.S. Central Time, on September 26, 2008, and will end on 11:59 p.m. on October 1, 2008. You will be notified in the event that the blackout period is extended past October 1, 2008.

Table of Contents

The blackout period is required to ensure smooth processing of the Rescission Offer. The Service Provider will not permit any transactions related to your account for the Plans during the blackout period. This means:

you will be unable to direct or diversify your investments in your account for the Plans during the blackout period; and all requests for distributions will be delayed until after the blackout period ends (any requests made during the blackout period do not need to be remade once the blackout period ends).

You will need to initiate any requests prior to 3:00 p.m., U.S. Central Time, on the date the blackout begins for those requests to take effect. It is important that you review and consider the appropriateness of your current investments in light of your inability to direct or diversify investments in your account for the Plans during the blackout period. For your long term retirement security, you should give careful consideration to the importance of a well-balanced and diversified investment portfolio, taking into account all your assets, income and investments. You should be aware that there is a risk to holding substantial portions of your assets in the securities of any one company, such as the Dell Stock Fund, as individual securities tend to have wider price swings, up and down, in short periods of time, than investments in diversified funds. Our common stock may have a wide price swing during the blackout period resulting in a large loss, and you will not be able to direct the sale of Units from your account for the Plans during the blackout period.

If you have any questions concerning this notice or the blackout period, including whether the blackout period has ended, you should contact Manulife Financial toll free at 1-888-727-7766. Whether or not you are planning retirement in the near future, we encourage you to consider how this blackout period may affect your retirement planning, as well as your overall financial plan.

For additional information and limitations on Plan investments and how to direct investment of your Plan account, see the Plan Summary Plan Description. To obtain a copy of the Plan Summary Plan Description, you may view and print a copy from the Dell intranet or you may contact Manulife Financial toll free at 1-888-727-7766.

Item 13. Other Expenses of Issuance and Distribution.

The following is an itemized statement of the expenses expected to be incurred in connection with the Rescission Offer. With the exception of the SEC registration fee, the amounts set forth below are estimates.

SEC registration fee	$ 36
Accounting fees and expenses	15,000
Printing and mailing fees	32,000
Legal fees and expenses	106,000
Miscellaneous	279,000
Total	$ 432,036

Item 14. Indemnification of Directors and Officers.

Under our Restated Certificate of Incorporation and Restated Bylaws, our officers and directors are entitled to indemnification from Dell to the fullest extent permitted by the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware, or DGCL. In addition, Dell may, to the fullest extent permitted by the DGCL or to such lesser extent as is determined in the discretion of the Board of Directors, indemnify its other employees and agents. Pursuant to Section 145 of the DGCL, Dell generally has the power to indemnify its present and former directors and officers against expenses and liabilities incurred by them in connection with any suit to which they are, or are threatened to be made, a party by reason of their serving in those positions so long as they acted in good faith and in a manner they reasonably believed to be in, or not opposed to, the best interests of Dell, and with respect to any criminal action, they had no reasonable cause to believe their conduct was unlawful. With respect to suits by or in the right of Dell, however, indemnification is generally limited to attorneys' fees and other expenses and is not available if the person is adjudged to be liable to Dell unless the court determines that indemnification is appropriate. The statute expressly provides that the power to indemnify authorized thereby is not exclusive of any rights granted under any by-law, agreement, vote of stockholders or disinterested directors, or otherwise. Dell also has the power to purchase and maintain insurance for its directors and officers.

The preceding discussion of our Restated Certificate of Incorporation and Section 145 of the DGCL is not intended to be exhaustive and is qualified by the Restated Certificate of Incorporation and Section 145 of the DGCL.

We have entered into indemnification agreements with each of our non-employee directors. Those agreements do not increase the extent or scope of the indemnification provided but were entered into to establish processes and procedures for indemnification claims.

Item 15. Recent Sales of Unregistered Securities.

Set forth below is a listing of all sales of securities by Dell during the past three years not registered under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended:

Internal Restructuring. We have modified the corporate organizational structure of certain of our subsidiaries to achieve more integrated global operations and to provide various financial, operational, and tax efficiencies. In connection with this internal restructuring, on December 28, 2006, we issued approximately 475 million shares of our common stock valued at U.S. $12.0 billion based on the closing price on The NASDAQ Stock Market on that date, to a wholly-owned subsidiary in return for an equivalent value in equity interests in the subsidiary. As part of the restructuring, the subsidiary used these shares to acquire a controlling interest in another wholly-owned subsidiary. Because all the shares issued as part of this restructuring are held by one or more of our wholly-owned subsidiaries, the shares are not considered outstanding in our consolidated financial statements or for voting purposes. We continue to be the ultimate beneficial owner of all subsidiaries involved in the internal restructuring.

These shares have not been registered under the Securities Act and were issued in a transaction not involving a public offering pursuant to the exemption under Section 4(2) of the Securities Act. The shares may not be resold absent registration or an applicable exemption from the registration requirements under the Securities Act or other applicable law.

Certain Employee Benefit Plan Securities. As a result of our inability to file our Annual Report on Form 10-K for Fiscal 2007 on its due date (April 3, 2007), we suspended our sale of Dell securities under our various employee benefit plans. In preparing for that suspension, we discovered that we had inadvertently failed to file with the SEC certain registration statements relating to securities under the plans.

Employee Stock Purchase Plan: Until the first quarter of Fiscal 2009, we maintained an Employee Stock Purchase Plan available to substantially all our employees worldwide. In 1994, stockholders approved additional shares for issuance under our Employee Stock Purchase Plan. We discovered that the issuance of these additional shares was never registered. Consequently, we have inadvertently issued approximately 54 million unregistered shares under this plan since 1996.

Retirement Plans: We maintain a 401(k) retirement savings plan that is available to substantially all of our U.S. employees and a separate retirement plan that is available to our employees in Canada. Both of those plans contain a Dell Stock Fund, and both plans allow participants to allocate some or all of their account balances to interests in the Dell Stock Fund. The Dell common stock held in the Dell Stock Funds is not purchased from Dell; rather, the plan trustees accumulate the plan contributions that are directed to the Dell Stock Funds and purchase for the Dell Stock Funds shares of Dell common stock in open market transactions. Nevertheless, because we sponsor the plans, we may be required to register certain transactions in the plans related to shares of Dell common stock. We discovered that we may be deemed to have been required to file a Form S-8 in July 2003 to register additional share transactions in the 401(k) Plan and a Form S-8 to register share transactions in the Canadian retirement plan in 1999. Consequently, we may be deemed to have inadvertently failed to register transactions in the two plans relating to up to approximately 37 million shares.

Item 17. Undertakings.

The undersigned registrant hereby undertakes:

(a) (1) To file, during any period in which offers or sales are being made, a post-effective amendment to this registration statement:

(i) To include any prospectus required by Section 10(a)(3) of the Securities Act of 1933;

(ii) To reflect in the prospectus any facts or events arising after the effective date of the registration statement (or the most recent post-effective amendment thereof) which, individually or in the aggregate, represent a fundamental change in the information set forth in the registration statement;

(iii) To include any material information with respect to the plan of distribution not previously disclosed in the registration statement or any material change to such information in the registration statement.

(2) That, for the purpose of determining any liability under the Securities Act of 1933, each such post-effective amendment shall be deemed to be a new registration statement relating to the securities offered therein, and the offering of such securities at that time shall be deemed to be the initial bona fide offering thereof.

(3) To remove from registration by means of a post-effective amendment any of the securities being registered which remain unsold at the termination of the offering.

(4) That, for the purpose of determining liability under the Securities Act of 1933 to any purchaser, each prospectus filed pursuant to Rule 424(b) as part of a registration statement relating to an offering, other than registration statements relying on Rule 430B or other than prospectuses filed in reliance on Rule 430A, shall be deemed to be part of and included in the registration statement as of the date it is first used after effectiveness. Provided, however, that no statement made in a registration statement or prospectus that is part of the registration statement or made in a document incorporated or deemed incorporated by reference into the registration statement or prospectus that is part of the registration statement will, as to a purchaser with a time of contract of sale prior to such first use, supersede or modify any statement that was made in the registration statement or prospectus that was part of the registration statement or made in any such document immediately prior to such date of first use.

(b) That, for purposes of determining liability under the Securities Act of 1933, each filing of the registrant's annual report pursuant to Section 13(a) or Section 15(d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (and, where applicable, each filing of an employee benefit plan's annual report pursuant to Section 15(d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934) that is incorporated by reference in the registration statement shall be deemed to be a new registration statement relating to the securities offered therein, and the offering of such securities shall be deemed to be the initial bona fide offering thereof.

(c) That insofar as indemnification for liabilities arising under the Securities Act of 1933 may be permitted to directors, officers and controlling persons of the registrant pursuant to the foregoing provisions, or otherwise, the registrant has been advised that in the opinion of the Commission such indemnification is against public policy as expressed in the Act and is, therefore, unenforceable. In the event that a claim for indemnification against such liabilities (other than the payment by the registrant of expenses incurred or paid by a director, officer or controlling person of the registrant in the successful defense of any action, suit or proceeding) is asserted by such director, officer or controlling person in connection with the securities being registered, the registrant will, unless in the opinion of its counsel the matter has been settled by controlling precedent, submit to a court of appropriate jurisdiction the question whether such indemnification by it is against public policy as expressed in the Act and will be governed by the final adjudication of such issue.
